Turnpike Question Pending

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Does the Missouri Highway Commission have authority to spend state road funds under the 1967 Toll Turnpike Law?

The question is pending now before Circuit Judge James T. Riley.

He said he would decide the constitutionality of the law as possible because of its public importance. Then it must go to the state supreme court for a final decision before any revenue bonds could be issued to build the proposed toll roads.

Riley took the case under advisement Wednesday after hearing oral arguments.

The challengers, two contractors representing all highway users, argued the law is invalid because it permits the Highway Commission to lease and operate toll roads from the Turnpike Authority and if necessary use state road funds to help pay off the revenue bonds.

The defendants are the Commission and the Turnpike Authority, which is made up of the six highway commissioners plus Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

They argued the law is valid because the people, through the constitution, have said state road funds may be used to build any highway without legislative action.

Like the challengers, they cited numerous precedents, including the fact that the state's right to take over toll bridges and their approaches has been upheld. They said a toll turnpike could be taken into the state highway system at any time.

The plaintiffs, including 10 Republican representatives who intervened, said the law's title is not broad enough to cover the Highway Commission's leasing plan.

They also charged the law is in effect a tax repealer because the Turnpike Authority and its concessions, like restaurants and filling stations, would not have to pay sales, income and other taxes.

The test case was argued on the same day Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas proposed to build over 600 miles of Kansas highways with a bond issue.

Forts Evade Red Rockets

Missilemen Attempt To Down Big Planes

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners fired three SAM missiles Wednesday night at a flight of U.S. B52 bombers attacking the demilitarized zone, but all three of the Soviet-built rockets missed, the U.S. Command reported.

It was the first time the U.S. Command has made a combat report of Red efforts to get the high-flying, eight-engine Superfortresses with the Russian surface-to-air missiles. Washington reported earlier Communist efforts in September and October, without giving details, when the Pentagon denied a Russian claim that SAMs had downed one of the American high-altitude bombers.

Christmas Present To New Madrid

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The New Madrid area is going to get a $140 million Christmas present — described as "the largest single industrial acquisition in the history of Missouri."

Involved is an aluminum reduction plant to be built by Noranda Mines, Ltd., of Toronto, Canada, at an estimated cost of $60-70 million plus a $70 million steam power plant to generate the vast amounts of electricity needed.

The power plant will be built by the city of New Madrid through issuance of revenue bonds and will be operated by Associated Electric Cooperative serving both the aluminum plant and New Madrid consumers. Surplus power will go to REA co-ops.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and area civic leaders were jubilant at Wednesday's announcement.

"The construction of these two plants at a very large financial investment," the governor said in a statement, "will provide an immediate economic boost for southeast Missouri and will open up untold job opportunities both in that region and throughout the state."

The announcement comes at an auspicious time because the Bootheel is suffering from its worst cotton crop in many years — a hard blow to the area's economy.

L. G. Lumbers, president of the parent Noranda Mfg. Ltd., made the joint announcement with the governor.

The Communist forces are known to have long yearned for a crack at the strategic bombers with the high-altitude SAMs — the missiles that downed an American U2 over the Soviet Union — and they have repeatedly attempted to slip the missiles far enough south.

By Wednesday night they had a missile site secretly in operation about 10 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam. When their radar scopes picked up the bombers, the Red gunners unloaded three SAMs.

U.S. officers said the 500-mile-an-hour bombers, flying about six miles up, had about 30 seconds to complete evasive action after their own radar picked up the missiles streaking up at them.

Beyond saying that none of the planes was damaged, the Air Force did not disclose what happened next in the skies over the DMZ.

Cold wave and hazardous driving warnings. Snow accumulation of 1 to 3 inches before ending tonight, temperatures falling to low of 10 to 15. Cold wave tonight. Partial clearing and cold Friday, high in 20s. Precipitation probabilities 40 per cent tonight, 20 Friday.

The temperature Thursday was 35 at 7 a.m., and 26 at noon. Low Wednesday night was 35.

The temperature one year ago today was high 54; low 29.

Posthumous Award To Knob Noster Soldier

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Welch, Knob Noster, will receive the Purple Heart at 2 p.m. Friday, awarded posthumously to their son, Corp. John H. Welch, who was killed in Hoa Tan, Vietnam, Nov. 1.

The presentation will be made at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Knob Noster by 2nd Lt. Ciaarciauro, Richard's Gebaur AFB, survival officer for the area. A citation will accompany the medal.

Corp. Welch was killed in action five weeks after arriving in Vietnam.

Hearnes' Budget Is Satisfactory

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Presidents of Missouri's state colleges told the House Appropriations Committee Wednesday night they were satisfied with Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' budget recommendations.

The night session ended the current series of hearings. The committee will resume work the week of Jan. 8 before the special legislative session opens Jan. 12.

By that time it hopes to learn how the new Social Security and welfare law will affect Missouri's welfare programs.

Dr. Ben Morton, director of the State Commission on Higher Education, told the committee budget figures for the colleges were based on a close estimate of the number of instructors needed and the amount of funds necessary to finance the schools.

In three cases the formula was exceeded. Extra money money was allotted to Lincoln University at Jefferson City, Northwest State College at Maryville and Missouri Southern College at Joplin because of their special needs.

Morton said only slight increases in freshman enrollment are expected next year.

Here is a breakdown of the requests and recommendations: Missouri Western asked for $336,386 but the governor reduced that to $254,386 in his budget.

Missouri Southern asked for $1,129,885 but the governor trimmed that to $896,597.

Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg requested $11,007,828, but the governor's budget reduced it to $8,860,188.

Northeast Missouri State at Kirksville requested $5,594,523. The governor's recommendation was $4,455,546.

Northwest Missouri State at Maryville asked $3,506,922. The budget calls for $3,330,126.

Heart Patient Is Dead

Clinical Evidence Examined

Transplanted Heart Works Until the End

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Prof. Christian N. Barnard said today the death of the world's first heart transplant patient left no evidence that heart transferrals should be discontinued.

Barnard, who performed the heart transplant of Louis Washkansky Dec. 3, said a post-mortem produced no clinical evidence that rejection played a part in the patient's death.

As soon as the occasion arises he will do the next heart transplant. Barnard told a news conference less than eight hours after Washkansky, 53, died in Groote Schuur Hospital.

Earlier Washkansky's anesthesiologist reported that the transplanted heart worked well until the very end and that the post-mortem indicated the patient died of a severe localized infection of the lungs.

Two Grants Made Projects in State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has made two grants for projects in Missouri.

Aides to Sens. Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, Missouri Democrats, said a $111,000 grant will go to the Missouri Department of Conservation for development of trout rearing facilities at Montauk State Park in Benton County.

Another $95,000 grant will go to the city of Rolla to acquire 84 acres of land in the city for development into a public recreation area to be known as Ber-Juan Park.

Gamble For Life Fails

Louis Washkansky, center, who gambled for life with the world's first heart transplant, died Thursday in a battle against forces still only dimly understood by medical science. Head of the transplant team that performed the delicate surgery was Dr. Christian Barnard, right. Donor of the heart was Denise Darvall, left, who had been killed in an auto accident. Her heart continued to beat vigorously even toward the very end of Washkansky's life. (UPI)

LBJ, Thieu Meet

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam met here tonight with President Johnson and publicly agreed that Johnson's latest suggestions for promoting peace in Vietnam "were fully consistent" with the policy of his government.

Johnson and Thieu issued a joint statement following a working dinner which sought to dispel any idea the two leaders were in conflict over possible informal talks with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The joint statement said Thieu "reaffirmed willingness to discuss relevant matters with any individuals now associated with the so-called National Liberation Front, while making it clear that his government could not regard the front as an independent organization in any sense."

Thieu was interpreted as taking a countercourse to Johnson's in the remarks he made on his departure from Saigon for Australia, where the two leaders have joined others to attend memorial rites Friday for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt, lost in a weekend swimming accident.

Parkhurst First In Decorations

John W. Parkhurst took first place in the annual Hughesville Christmas house decoration contest. Judging was Monday night and Walter Olson came in second, Art Martin, third, while William Bruening received honorable mention.

Judges for the contest were William Spears, Don Stratton and Mrs. Vivian Vanetta.

Three Killed, Forty Hurt In Tornado

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) — Three persons were killed and 40 injured early today by tornadoes which struck Potosi and other southeastern Missouri towns, inflicting heavy damage.

The Missouri Highway Patrol reported that the dead were from the Potosi area and that at least 30 other injuries were reported there. Three injuries also were reported at Bixby.

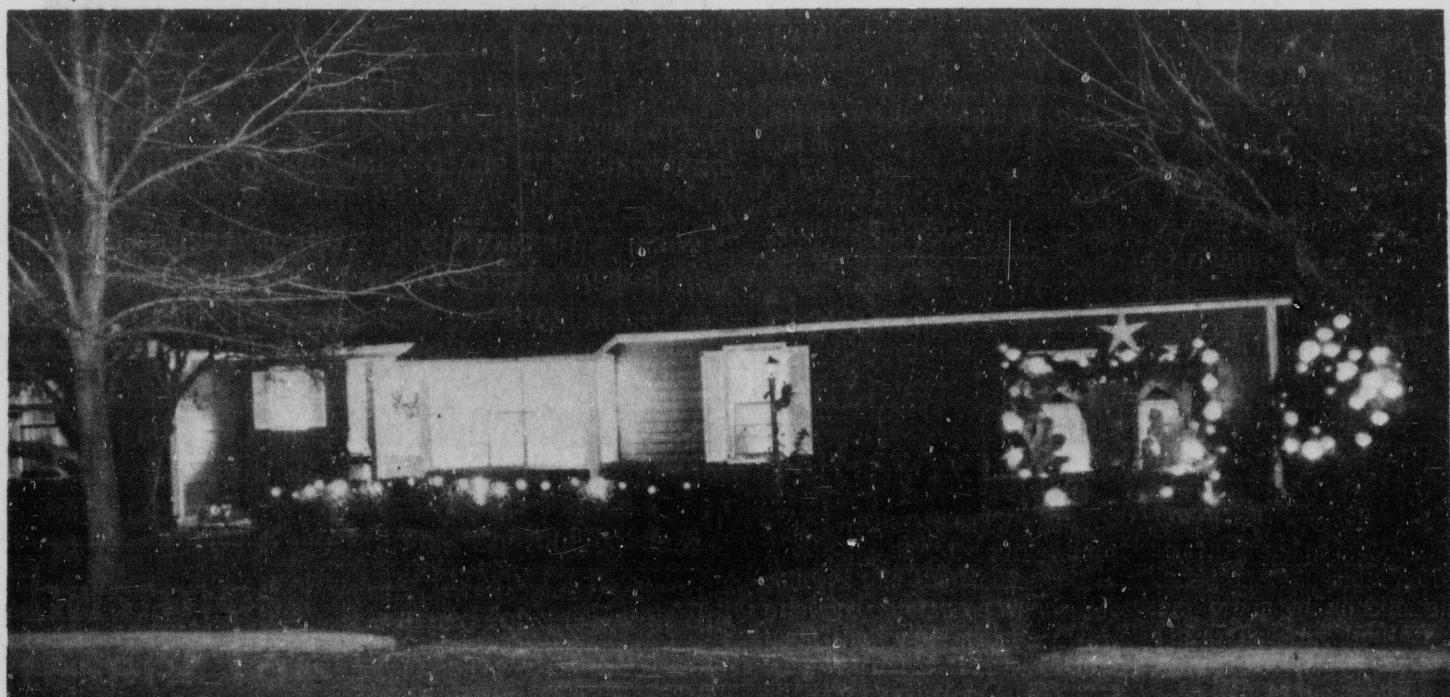

In Potosi, the City Hall, power plant, a shopping center and 10 to 20 homes were damaged. The injured were taken to Washington County Memorial Hospital. Ten business buildings were destroyed.

Dead were identified as Julia Hunter, 9, who lived in a trailer court at Potosi, and Jess Haggard and his wife, Hester, both about 65, who lived two miles northeast of Potosi on rural route E.

Mrs. Helen Irvin, former civil defense worker in Washington County, said it hit the east end of Potosi, a town of 3,000 75 miles southwest of St. Louis. It destroyed all but one building in a shipping center and wrecked four homes on Lilac Drive, she said.

Two homes were reported destroyed at Rover, Mo., south and east of Willow Springs at about the same time.

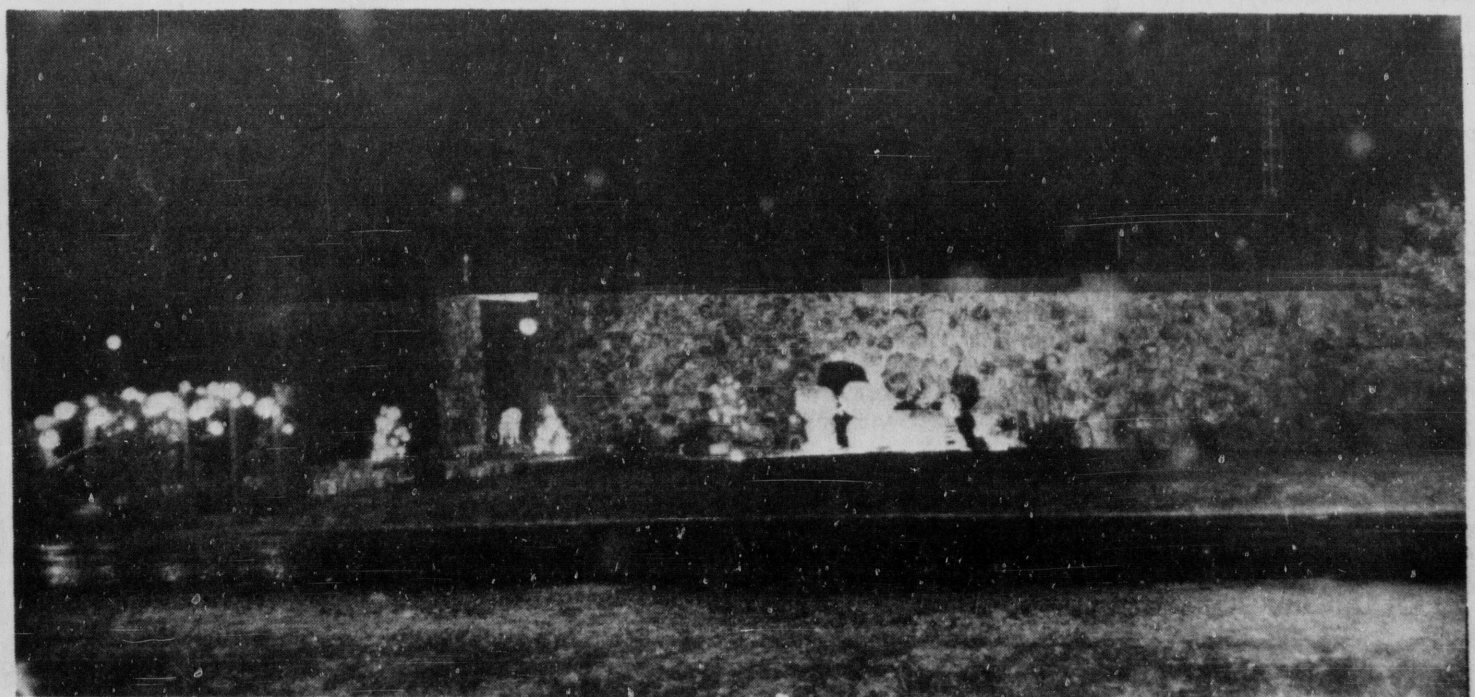

The Hunter girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hunter and two other Hunter children, Joyce, 6, and Kim, 5, were injured and taken to the Washington County Hospital.

For Reading, Standing On, You Can't Beat Book Gifts

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Are you getting a bit frantic now about doing some last-minute Christmas shopping for presents for deserving acquaintances or suddenly remembered friends?

There is no reason for blind panic. The solution is simple. Just go to the nearest bookstore and buy a few books.

A good book is always an appropriate present. If you send it to someone who can't read, it flatters his vanity; if he can read, it will help keep him informed and stir in him a lasting gratitude. He may even lend you the book back so that you can read it, too.

Books, of course are handy in many ways. They are great things to impress visitors with or to hide behind when your wife is trying to start an argument and you are feeling too weak to defend yourself. And a good stout dictionary is as good a platform as you can find to stand upon while reaching up to pull down a stuck window blind.

Yes, there is no end to the uses books can be put to. But the selection of the right book for the right person is all-important.

For example, here—all in fun—is a suggested list of books suitable for certain celebrities:

"Incredible Victory"—The Los Angeles Rams.
"Last Reflections on a War"—Robert S. McNamara.
"The Deserted House"—Lyndon Johnson.

"The Chosen"—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller; Gov. George Romney, Gov. Richard Reagan, and Richard M. Nixon.
"No Laughing Matter"—John V. Lindsay, mayor of Fun City.

"At Ease: Stories I Tell to Friends"—Zsa Zsa Gabor.
"The Instrument"—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

"Anyone Can Make a Million"—Your friendly neighborhood Mafia leader.
"The Last Best Hope"—Bob Hope.

"A Dictionary of Angels"—Richard Cardinal Cushing.
"Between Parent and Child"—Dr. Benjamin Spock.

"The Arrangement"—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.
"Foolish Figleaves?"—Phyllis Diller.

"The Revealing Eye"—J. Edgar Hoover.
"The Lost Revolutionary"—Any hippie.

"Oops! Or, Life's Awful Moments"—The Baltimore Colts.

"Bigger Than a Breadbox"—Jackie Gleason.

"The House in My Head"—Harold E. Stassen.

"One More Victim"—The Green Bay Packers.

"The Limits of Power"—Ho Chi Minh.

"With a Little Bit O' Luck"—King Constantine of Greece.

"The Age of Reason Begins"—Dr. Timothy Leary.

"On Top of the World"—Sidney Poitier.

Must Report Cash Tips Each Month

E. P. Trainor, District Director of Internal Revenue for Missouri, pointed out today that every employee who receives cash tips of $20 or more in any calendar month while working for one employer, must report the amount of tips received during the month to that employer.

Cash tips are subject to withholding of income and Social Security taxes and must be reported to the employer on or before the 10th day of the following month.

Trainor emphasized that tip income counts toward Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits and may result in higher benefits for the employee and his family.

WEALTHY AUNT REMEMBERED

BOSTON (AP)—The guy who shirks household chores as a little boy may pay dearly in later life. Such was the case of Joseph L. Matys of San Francisco. Matys' aunt, Boston spinster Maybell G. Reed, 74, left an estate of $97,868—$1 of which went to Matys.

A probate court was told Matys was left out because "as a boy he refused to shovel snow, carry out the rubbish barrels or help her in any way."

"The House in My Head"—Harold E. Stassen.
"One More Victim"—The Green Bay Packers.
"The Limits of Power"—Ho Chi Minh.
"With a Little Bit O' Luck"—King Constantine of Greece.
"The Age of Reason Begins"—Dr. Timothy Leary.
"On Top of the World"—Sidney Poitier.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I am a man 43 years old. Nine years ago I was committed to a state mental hospital. Time and feeling deserted me. I was able to attain a continuing interest in only one thing—your column. Some days, reading Ann Landers was the only act I was aware of performing.

I cannot say I particularly enjoyed your column or that it uplifted me in any way, or that I learned anything from it. I had no sense of either liking it or disliking it. It didn't make me feel especially comfortable or uncomfortable. I just knew that every day I had to read Ann Landers.

For a long time I gave up hope that I would ever be a functional, whole human being again. Then gradually I began to see signs that I was getting better. Today I am well on my way to recovery.

Now I know why I read your column every day. It was because you expressed a note of sympathy and understanding for the mentally ill. Possibly this is what kept alive in me that small flicker of hope. I just wanted to say thank you. —JOHN OF SEATTLE

Dear Seattle: Yours is a remarkable letter. I have never received a finer compliment. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: May I respond to Mrs. Clean—the mother-in-law who feels so sorry for her son. If the boy was raised in an immaculate home, I'm sure it must hurt her to see him living "in all that dirt."

I know how you feel, Mrs. Clean, because my own mother-in-law has expressed exactly the same sentiments to everyone who would listen. I admit our home is not as clean as hers, but then whose is? She has made such a fetish of a spotless house that it is pretty nearly a sickness.

It is interesting to me, however, that my husband finds his mother's immaculate home as unappealing as she must find our "pig pen." I know this is true because I have had to drag him over to his mother's clean house every two weeks for the last eight years.

So you see, my dear, it takes more than bleaches, detergents, furniture polish and wax to make a home inviting. —BATTERED BUFFER BETWEEN A BOY AND HIS MOTHER

Dear Buff: You speak the truth, Girl. Thanks for saying it. Take that and that and that, Mrs. Clean!

Dear Ann Landers: After receiving a formal announcement of the wedding of a close friend's daughter, I sent a rather costly gift. I heard around town that on the honeymoon the bride decided she had made a terrible mistake. Four weeks after the marriage she filed for divorce.

Yesterday I received the bill for the gift. The bride has told several people she has no intention of returning the wedding gifts; in fact, she plans to exchange some of the gifts for clothes. Am I wrong in feeling resentful? —HADSVILLE

Dear Had: If the wedding had not come off, the bride would surely have been obligated to return the gifts. But once married, whether for four weeks or four minutes, the bride need not return anything.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism—Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bethlehem Is Changed By Israel

By HAL MCCLURE
Associated Press Writer
BETHLEHEM, Occupied Jordan (AP) — Pilgrims celebrating Christmas in the Israeli-occupied Holy Land will discover unexpected changes in this sleepy Arab town this year.
A new archway welcomes the visitor in English, Arabic—and Hebrew.
Arab shops carry Israeli-made goods, post cards and periodicals printed in Tel Aviv—even victorious Israeli war books, with patched Gen. Moshe Dayan's face on the covers.

Khaki-clad Israeli soldiers clatter through the narrow cobblestoned streets, past heavily laden donkeys with chattering Arab women returning from market.
The Star of David flutters languidly in the December sun over the police station opposite the Church of the Nativity.

Gone are the barbed wire entanglements that once separated Jordan and Israel, forcing pilgrims to make a long detour.
But some things never change.

Commercialism and sectarian bickering still seem to mock the joyous observance of Christ's birth at this very spot nearly 2,000 years ago.

Neon signs flicker like alien beacons over the Milk Grotto Grocery and the Holy Manger Store.

Hawkers cry out the praise of olive-wood madonnas, mother of pearl crosses, rosaries.

The sprawling Church of the Nativity, which traces its beginnings back 1,600 years, has several chapels belonging to different faiths. Each religion jealously defends its rights, even to entering certain doors or lighting certain lamps.

A religious dispute more than a hundred years ago—over the placement of a vermillion star in the Grotto of the Nativity to mark the place where the Christ child was born—was taken up by supporting governments. It helped spark the Crimean War in 1853.

A television technician more recently began setting up his equipment in the Greek Orthodox basilica and requested permission from the Armenians to connect an electric line on their side. He was brusquely refused.

A few years ago while worshippers sang "Peace on earth, good will to men" in the church a group of priests battled wildly with bottles on the roof above.

There is even a dispute over which is the field "where shepherds watched their flocks by night." In four such fields around Bethlehem the keeper vows his is the true field.

Bethlehem's Arab merchants depend largely on the Christian pilgrim to boost their annual sales. So far business has been bad.

The war and Israeli tariffs imposed on Bethlehem's cottage industry have hurt.

UNDERGROUND HOTEL

SYDNEY (AP) — A 15-bedroom hotel, 28 feet underground, is planned for Coober Pedy, the scorched opal-mining center in Central Australia.

The hotel will have a reception desk, dining room and the rest, and will be air-conditioned. The walls are planned in their natural state—white and red sandstone.

Coober Pedy, with an average summer temperature between 95 and 100 degrees, is so hot that most of the people live underground. The Roman Catholic Church of St. Peter and St. Paul is built into a hillside.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Nearly 700 Girl Scouts were registered in Sedalia at a Registration Clinic held for leaders, Dec. 6, at the Calvary Episcopal Church.

Members of the neighborhood service team, Mrs. Orrin C. Smith, neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Harold Jones, Jr., troop organizer for neighborhood 42, Mrs. Sam Ruth, junior troop consultant for neighborhood 41, and Mrs. T. J. Norris, cadette and senior troop consultant, worked with the leaders in registering their troops.

Registrations were checked for completeness and accuracy, and leaders were given membership cards for their girls.

Scouts from Green Ridge and LaMonte, also part of District IX, were also registered.

The registration clinic is an innovation in Sedalia, and was held in order that all troops be registered properly and promptly, and to provide leaders with help in filling out their registration forms, if it were needed.

Sacred Heart Troop 301 met Dec. 5, for their regular meeting. Christmas gifts were worked on by the girls. At the previous meeting each patrol worked on their badges and money was collected from the calendar sales. The court of honor was held to discuss Christmas projects and the final plans for the Christmas party.

Kathy Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall, danced for her Junior Scout Troop 374, at their regular meeting at the Wesley Methodist Church, Dec. 5. She brought two dancing costumes, and did three numbers for the troop. The girls have just completed the Dancer badge.

Following this, the sixth grade members of the troop began learning to knit under the direction of Mrs. James Schumaker. This is to be their special service project, and the squares they knit will be sewn into an afghan.

Scouts Kim Alexander, Cathy Ford, and Paula Dowdy, with Mrs. Donald Carpenter, Brownie Troop 303, and taught the Brownies singing games.

Fourth and fifth grade members of the troop met with Mrs. Orrin C. Smith to review the requirements of the Sign of the Arrow. They studied the meaning of the World Association Pin and learned a song that uses French, German, Spanish, and Japanese words for "help." Mrs. Smith showed them a collection of photographs of Girl Scout activities ranging from Brownies to Senior Scouts, and based on the Foundation Elements of Scouting.

Leaders are Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Schumaker, and Mrs. Carpenter.

Jan Norris gave a brief description of the events at the senior international weekend held in Hermann Dec. 2-3.

The girls decided to have no further meetings until after the New Year.

An international Day was also brought up, which will be continued at a later date.

pathologist, also said at this stage there is no clear evidence that rejection played a part in the outcome of the operation.

Barnard and Botha appeared at the news conference with cardiologist Prof. Velve Schrire, pathologist R.J.G. Thomson and cardiologist Dr. A. Forde.

A statement issued to the press shortly before the news conference said: "Clinically the cause of death was respiratory failure due to bilateral pneumonia. This was confirmed at post-mortem by Prof. J. G. Thomson."

Asked if he considered Washkansky's death "negated the experiment" Barnard replied, "Firstly, I would not consider it an experiment—it was a treatment for a sick patient."

"The problem of infection was loaded against the surgical team," he said.

Washkansky had an infected leg and diabetes.

Thomson said that had pneumonia not played a part there was the possibility Washkansky would have lived for a few years.

The post-mortem showed Washkansky had sustained an unusually heavy attack on pneumonia, he said.

In cases of heart disease there were changes in the liver, but the post-mortem on Washkansky showed the new heart had restored his liver to normal.

News Briefs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three months after her birth, Crandon Park's baby aardvark has a name. The long-nosed, badly wrinkled little animal will be known as Aardy.

Zoo officials chose the name from 1,405 entries submitted in a nationwide contest. The winning entry was submitted by a Miami ninth grader, Jackie Edmond.

Aardy is the second aardvark born in captivity, and the first ever in the Western Hemisphere.

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — The New Mexico Junior College snow dance finally was held Tuesday night after being postponed from last week because of snow.

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Seeing their duty, two citizens in a car flagged down a NAPA County sheriff's deputy Wednesday to inform him of another driver creating a disturbance nearby.

The deputy got back in his cruiser, but it wouldn't start. At his request, one of the Samaritans pushed the officer to the scene of the disturbance. The deputy made an arrest—but again his car wouldn't start.

Again the helpful motorist gave a push, this time to the county jail.

Murder Hearing Begins Thursday

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP) — Trial of Ronald Allen Melton, 24, Pulaske, Va., on a first degree murder charge began today in circuit court after he had been acquitted of a first degree robbery charge by reason of murder.

The murder charge is based on the slaying of Mrs. Leona Bales, 60, at a Lexington motel, Nov. 9, 1966. Mrs. Bales and her husband managed the motel.

The robbery charge stemmed from the robbery of Herbert Bredehoeft, owner of a store at Emma, Mo., also on Nov. 9.

The robbery trial was held without a jury before Circuit Judge Arthur Rogers. After the verdict the judge ordered Melton committed to the Missouri State Hospital at Fulton.

Today's trial also was without a jury.

Weather Is Key Item For Indians

By HOWARD GRAVES

Associated Press Writer
WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Navajo officials saw a ray of optimism today in their battle to stave off starvation and illness among tribal members hit by a series of severe snow storms.

But, the weather remained the key item.

"If it snows and blows, all predictions are off," said Graham Holmes, Bureau of Indian Affairs area director.

Many Navajos were being admitted to hospitals on or near the reservation suffering from pneumonia, exposure and respiratory ailments brought on by the cold weather. A U.S. Public Health Service official said most of the hospitals were at near capacity.

"We're able to move the ones who are less ill," said Dr. George Bock, PHS facilities director, "and the more severely ill can be flown out to peripheral hospitals if need be."

Holmes said the "death rate has held remarkably well," considering the conditions. Officials said there had been only three deaths attributable to the storms which first struck the nation's largest Indian reservation Dec. 13.

Both tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai and Holmes said there has been no reported cases of starvation among the estimated 110,000 Navajos living on the reservation, which is the size of West Virginia. Officials added, however, upwards of 60,000 Navajos are in need of food and fuel.

"We've got enough food, or food available, for the next three to four days if the weather doesn't turn bad," said Holmes.

Nakai said there still is no indication the reservation will be declared an emergency area by the federal government. He wants the designation to enable utilization of heavy snow-removal equipment to open snow blocked roads.

Holmes said several federal agencies, including the Department of the Interior, the National Parks Service and the U.S. Forest Service are helping to move in snow-removal equipment. He said some pieces were expected to reach the reservation late today.

Nakai and Holmes said the Navajos are losing a lot of livestock.

Hay drops by C119s working out of Phoenix were scheduled for the second straight day in the western part of the reservation which Nakai said has been hardest hit by the thigh-high snow.

Air Force rescue helicopters went forth again with more food drops to the remote sections of the reservation which extends into New Mexico, Arizona and Utah.

Surplus food, blankets and cots were being airlifted from Phoenix.

However, a convoy of trucks bringing 60 tons of surplus food from Phoenix Wednesday was turned back by huge snow drifts and clogged highways. Navajo tribal police Asst. Supt. Frank Chambers said four tons of that food would be airlifted to Winslow for distribution.

Baseballer Offers A Special Gift

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A young father will get an oil portrait of his seven-year-old daughter for Christmas, painted by center-fielder Curt Flood of the St. Louis Cardinals.

"It's a gesture like Curt painting the portrait that restores our faith in human nature," Mrs. Ted Ehrmann said. Flood painted the picture as a gift for the Ehrmann family because their daughter Christine had leukemia.

Christine died Tuesday night.

"Curt didn't know us; he didn't have to give us the portrait," Patricia Ehrmann said a few days before Christine died. She talked about all the nice things people had done, like her husband's bowling group and his office sending Christine on a trip to Disneyland.

The Ehrmanns discovered their daughter had the blood disease about a year and a half ago. Ehrmann took the news like a stoic. Mrs. Ehrmann said, adding, "I felt like I swallowed a rock."

Mrs. Ehrmann said a trip to the dentist led to Flood painting the portrait as a Christmas gift for her husband.

"Well," she said, "one day I was in my dentist's office and I saw a portrait of his two kids. He gave me the name of the artist, but I couldn't find him."

Broiler-Fryer Chicken

The plentiful supply of broiler-fryers on the market in December has made chicken an unusually good buy, say specialists with USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Broiler-fryers are young chickens, usually 8-10 weeks old. The ready-to-cook weight may range between 2 and 3½ pounds. Roaster chickens are somewhat heavier, but both broiler-fryers and roasters are young chickens with tender meat and soft pliable smooth-textured skin.

When buying chicken for frying or roasting allow approximately ½ pound ready-to-cook weight for each service. For broilers, allow ¾ to 1½ chicken per serving.

How much chicken you buy depends on the number of persons to be served, the size of servings, the yield of cooked, boneless meat, the way you cook and serve poultry, and whether or not you want leftovers.

Whole chicken may be a better buy than whole cut-up chicken or chicken parts such as breasts and thighs. Whole chickens are usually 2 cents or more a pound cheaper than whole cut-up chickens, which are, of course, a convenience item.

The price per pound for chicken breasts may be 100 per cent more than the price per pound for a whole chicken, but you get about 40 per cent more cooked, boned chicken from the chicken breasts. However, if your family prefers only certain parts, it would be more economical to buy only those parts that will be consumed. Compare prices each time you buy and be alert to the best buys.

To be sure of getting high quality, wholesome chicken, look for the grade shield and the inspection mark. The shield with the words USDA Grade A indicates that poultry is the finest quality available. The circle showing "USDA Inspected for Wholesomeness" is the consumer symbol of safety.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) urges homemakers to look for both of these symbols when purchasing poultry. The round inspection mark is a symbol of safety and shows that the poultry was officially graded. Poultry that is marked "USDA Grade A" is of the highest table quality.

Nuts
The imaginative cook can always come up with new ways to use nuts, but the nut itself has a long and interesting history. Nuts have been known from before biblical times. They have always been used as a food but in Roman days they were also valued for their medicinal qualities. A walnut was used to cure the bite from a mad dog and also to prevent tooth decay. The Romans also used the shell of the nut to dye hair. It is said that in Germany a young farmer had to prove his fitness for marriage by the number of walnut trees he owned.

One of the reasons that nuts have long been used for food is that they are an excellent source of many nutrients. Most nuts are extremely rich in fat. The pecan has more than 70 per cent fat. The brazil nut, butternut, filbert, hickory nut, and English walnut all have over 70 per cent fat. There is more than 50 per cent fat in the black walnut, almond, beechnut. The protein content of nuts ranges from 5-30 per cent. It is of good quality but the high fat content makes the nuts unsatisfactory as a substitute for animal protein. Thus, nuts are considered as a source of fat rather than a source of protein in the diet. Nuts are also rich sources of minerals, especially calcium and phosphorus. Some nuts such as the unblanched almond and hazel nut, walnut, pecan, and hickory nut are good sources of iron. The pecan is also a good source of vitamin A. The pecan, chestnut, walnut, filbert, and brazil nut also contribute Vitamin B to the diet. Thus, nuts can make an important contribution to the diet because of their protein, vitamins, minerals and energy values. The reports of the 1967 harvest of nuts indicate that the pecan, filbert, and walnut crop are below average with the almond crop yielding an above average harvest. Because supplies are likely to be smaller, it is important to select, store and use nuts to best advantage. There are several things the homemaker should look for to make sure she is buying the highest quality nut available. Nuts in the shell should be clean and free from cracks, holes or scars. Also the shell should be well filled so the kernels do not rattle. Freshness of shelled nuts can be judged by looking at the appearance of the kernel. Plump, meaty kernels mean full flavor and richness. Fresh kernels of fine quality will snap when broke. They will have a crisp fresh, taste. If the kernel is rubbery this indicates staleness, high moisture content and probably rancidity. The inside of the kernel should be clean, white, and clear. A dingy gray color means oiliness and possible rancidity. Storage: It is easy to store nuts but there are several hints that will help the homemaker keep her nuts fresh. First, nuts in the shell keep better than the shelled. If nuts are to be kept over a long period of time, it might be wise to buy and store the nuts in the shell and crack as needed. Nuts contain a high percentage of fat which will become rancid when stored at room temperature or in the light. The nuts should be kept in the refrigerator between 32 and 40 degrees. It is best to store the nuts in the main section of the refrigerator rather than in the moist air section where the vegetables are kept. Since air also hastens the onset of spoilage it is best to avoid opening vacuum packed containers long before the nuts are to be used. It is also good to remember that salted nuts because salt encourages the onset of rancidity, do not store as well as unsalted nuts.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Violinist In Farewell To Teaching

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "When they used to call me a distinguished professor, I said I felt more like an extinguished professor. I didn't realize how prophetic that would be."

This was violin virtuoso Jascha Heifetz in a puckish mood, but not without a degree of pique. He had called a reporter to his Beverly Hills home to announce some news: that he had left his teaching post at the University of Southern California.

The announcement struck a reminiscent note. Six years ago, Heifetz ended two years of teaching at UCLA on a sour note. The experience had been both a success and a failure, he said, adding: "I was hoping there would be less talk and more practice."

Once again Heifetz has parted with a university with a degree of discordance.

"Earlier this year I was notified that I was being relieved of my duties as of July. The reason for this is so ridiculous I would rather not discuss it," he said.

"After I was told I was unemployed, I replied that I was not ready to quit. Even though my staying may not be welcome, I intended to do so because I felt I could still provide some benefits to the students. I said I would leave when I was good and ready, and when I did, I might make a big noise."

"I continued teaching until recently, and then I left—but with little noise, merely removing my properties and saying so long to my colleagues. I left with sadness, because the experience had brought many pleasant memories. USC was not easy to reach (it is located in southern Los Angeles), but the work was good. I enjoyed working there."

Heifetz said his immediate plans were to "evaporate for a while," perhaps to do a little fishing. After the first of the year, he intends to resume teaching, this time in his own studio at his home. Later, he said, he might have some interesting plan announce.

Authorities at USC were disturbed by the flourish of the violinist's departure and declared the teaching program had been a successful one. The problem, they said, had been money.

Dr. Raymond Kendall, who had been head of the music department and remains a faculty member since assuming presidency of the Performing Arts Council of the Los Angeles Music Center, had this explanation:

"Five and a half years ago, we established the masters' program with Mr. Heifetz. Gregor Piatagorsky and William Primrose as teachers for a three-year period. It was a very expensive program, but it proved so successful that it was continued two extra years. But then it had gone beyond what the university could afford to finance."

BUSINESS NEWS

"The weather in the rest of the world determines prices U.S. farmers receive for their products," Fred V. Heinkel president of the Missouri and Midcontinent Farmers associations, told the annual meeting of the MFA Central Cooperative.

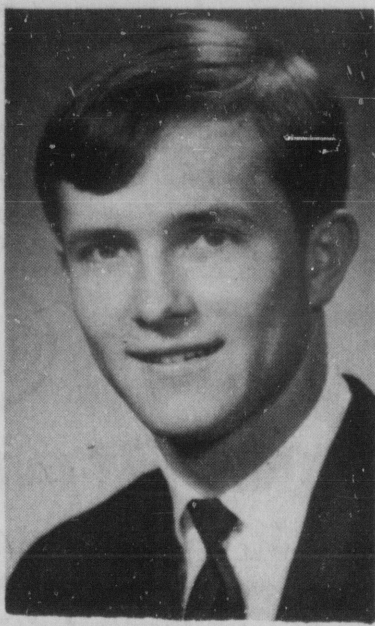

"We export half of our wheat, half of our soybeans and a third of our corn and milo," he said. "A good crop in India last year cut back U.S. wheat exports."

Heinkel warned "the picture is not all together rose for farmers." He explained that a St. Louis congressman has introduced legislation that would replace nonrecourse commodity loans with recourse loans as an example of legislation that could hurt farmers.

The nonrecourse loans on certain commodities has been the basis of farm price support program. For example the farmer puts his grain under loan at the time of harvest. When the price increases after harvest he sells the grain and redeems the loan. He has the choice of redeeming the loan or turning over the grain. The loan provided a floor under farm prices.

A recourse loan would not furnish a floor under farm prices. The farmer would be liable for the full amount of the loan regardless of the level of prices. If prices drop below the loan level the farmer would have to dig up the money.

The MFA Central Cooperative comprises 81 of the

During the nine weeks of training Lynn will receive instruction in such subjects as seamanship, survival techniques and military drill and will live and work under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station. ## Students Help In PTA Program

The Striped College P.T.A. met Friday, Dec. 15, with a Christmas program of songs, poems, and a recitation of the Christmas story, presented by the following students and teachers.

First and second grade, Mrs. Gladys Leiter; third and fourth grade, Mrs. Mildred Bell; fifth and sixth grades, Mrs. Grace MacMullen; seventh and eighth grades, Mrs. Pearl McQueen.

Following the program, a short business meeting was held. The devotional chairman read the poem, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day." The unit voted to renew the cub scout charter for the coming year. Mr. Bill Finlay was elected representative from the P.T.A. to the local cub scout group. Mrs. Tommie Gardner announced that eye examinations would be given during January.

The meeting adjourned for refreshments of coffee, cookies, candy, and a friendship hour.

There will be no P.T.A. meeting in January.

more than 250 local Exchanges and Elevators in the Missouri Farmers Association. In his report to the meeting Ormal Creach, Manager of the company, said the Central Cooperative had sales last year amounting to $82,246,000, an increase from $70,200,000 the previous year.

Elected to the board of directors were: Ivan Clark, Canton; John Childers, McFall; Joe A. Marshall, Marshall; Don Harshberger, Centralia; and Elvis Besand, Perryville.

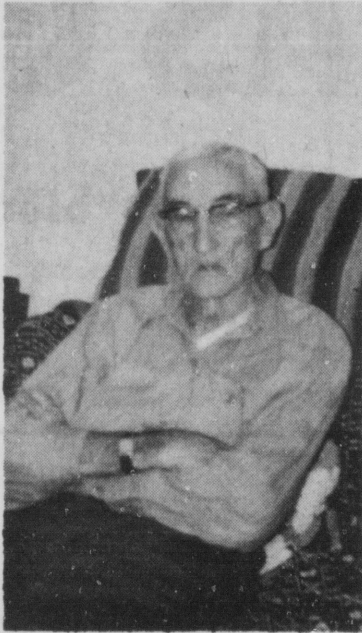

Representing the Sedalia MFA Exchange were: Norman Gibson, Leo Hoehns, Harry Runge, Ed Scholobohm, Harold Blaylock, C. E. Wells, and Gerald O'Neal, Manager.

Relatives Arrive To Celebrate

W. T. Shackelford, 1318 East Fourth, was 95 years old on December 15, and was quite pleased when five of his eight living children and a number of his grandchildren gathered at the home to help him celebrate.

Preparations had been made by the daughter, Mrs. Dorsey Phillips of the home and another daughter in Sedalia, Mrs. Harry Kaiser. The tables were covered with green linen tablecloths and red candles were in cut glass holders. The large cake, which was a gift of Mrs. Kaiser, was decorated with red roses and green leaves with lettering "Happy Birthday, Father."

Attending the dinner were four daughters, Mrs. Dorsey Phillips, Mrs. Harry Kaiser, Sedalia, Mrs. Jewel Phillips and Mrs. Bessie Johnson, both of Independence and one son and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Earl Shackelford, Kansas City. The three sons living in the state of Georgia were unable to come.

W. T. Shackelford

Mr. Shackelford was the father of 11 children.

At the dinner, too, were the following grandchildren: Mrs. Margie Simons, Independence; Mr. and Mrs. Don Stevens and children, Mike, Mark and Cindy, of the state of Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Owen, Earl Beard and son, Phillip, all of Kansas City; Mrs. Evelyn Jackson and daughter, Pam, and Mrs. Wanda Beck, of Sedalia. Also, a son-in-law, Harry Kaiser, Sedalia.

Many nice gifts were received by Mr. Shackelford, as well as cards and open house was held during the afternoon.

Born Dec. 15, 1872 in St. Aubert, Mo., Osage County, he worked as foreman of the yards for the MKT Railroad and in 1923 lost his left leg in an accident, after which he could no longer do that kind of work. For ten years then he was captain of the Boys' Training School in Boonville. The family moved to Sedalia in 1938, and his wife died six years ago.

One of his sisters lived to be 90 and another 89, so the family seems to be of long life.

Mr. Shackelford, up until he had a stroke three years ago, was very active, mowing his grass with a push mower and taking care of his yard. A year ago he broke his arm, but he came out of that, too, in good shape. He is still interested in everything that goes on and, although now he must have a little extra care, his daughter,

Curtis Recognized By LBJ at Signing

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Thomas B. Curtis was the only member of Congress present as an invited guest of the President when the Kennedy Round proclamation on trade legislation for the next five years was signed at the White House Cabinet room Dec. 16.

Curtis, who has been the most active of the congressional delegates chosen by Congress to represent them during the past four years of trade negotiations, was given the first congressional pen used by the President to sign the Kennedy Round document and received a warm handshake for his hard work and the several lengthy trade reports he has written on the subject. The other members of the congressional negotiating team had already left Washington for home.

About 15 nationally prominent members of the public advisory council for trade negotiations, businessmen, labor leaders, farm and consumer representatives, attended the ceremony.

During the 30-minute meeting, President Johnson thanked the members of the Congressional Trade Delegation and members of Congress for the work they had done in the trade field in general.

Youngster's Christmas Brightens

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Julie Cherie Rodriguez, who extends liver transplant survival records every day she lives, reached milestones of another sort Wednesday—she met her new baby brother and was told she may be home from the hospital for Christmas.

Perhaps because she's not quite two years old, and has had little experience with Santa Claus and none with baby brothers, she seemed not at all impressed.

Neither does she yet understand what it means to have survived longer—five months Saturday—than anyone else known to have undergone the delicate liver transplant operation.

But her parents have watched for months now from the brink of heartbreak and they know. And knowing the risks and rewards is making this chance at a quiet Christmas at home with their two children a blend of anxiety and thanksgiving.

"I just hope and pray to God that Julie doesn't get sick again and we can keep them both," said her father, John Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo.

On the other hand, his wife Louise, who gave birth to 7-pound, 14-ounce John Anthony Monday, has said, and her husband agrees: "I've had her almost five months longer than I would have otherwise."

Julie wore a blue and white nursery version of a minidress, white tights and a red Christmas cap to the meeting with John Anthony. He wore a diaper.

Julie pouted a little when she was brought into the room where baby John was snoozing between bottles in their mother's arms.

Later, after she was in her mother's arms, she relented a bit and even laughed when Mrs. Rodriguez tickled John's feet.

The Christmas trip to Pueblo, about 125 miles south of here, hinges on whether Julie's condition remains stable, as it has for some time now. She must return to the hospital within a day or two, in any event.

But since her transplant July 23, she has been allowed out of the University of Colorado Medical Center for only four or five hours at a time.

The only other known liver transplant survivors, 16-month-old Kerri Lynn Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale L. Brown, Long Beach, Calif., and 16-month-old Candy Barbaree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barbaree, Orlando Fla., both are patients at the hospital. Kerri received her new liver Sept. 5 and Candy Nov. 25. They, like Julie, are reported in fair condition, but won't be going home.

The previous survival record for any type of liver transplant was 34 days, and 23 days for orthotopic transplantation, or complete replacement of the diseased liver, such as all the children here have had.

The donor livers were obtained from children who died at the center of ailments unrelated to the liver.

Dormitory Fire Blamed On Blanket

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Fire attributed to a short-circuited electric blanket damaged an upstairs dormitory in the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house on the University of Kansas campus Wednesday night.

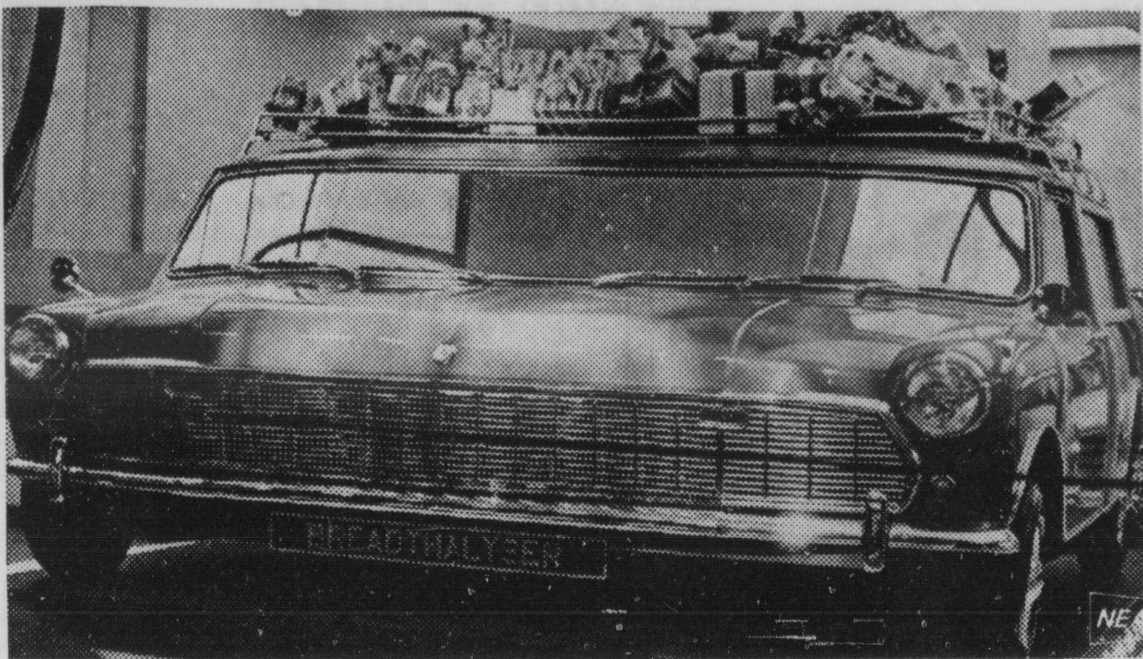

There was no one in the house at the time. Classes were let out for the Christmas holidays. A passerby turned in the alarm. Wall paneling in the dorm was burned through, and mattresses were ruined.

Firemen estimated damage at $1,000 to the house and another $1,000 to the contents. The three-story fraternity normally houses 60 men.

FINALLY A GIRL

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The celebration lasted longer than usual when Donna Sue Eberman was born recently.

She's the first child of her parents, the Donald Ebermans, and the first girl born into the Eberman family in five generations — 126 years.

KING-SIZE COMPACT was attention-getter in a London store window. For display purposes only, the auto was made by welding together the bodies of three compact cars.

Says LBJ Does Not Understand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says President Johnson misunderstands opponents of the Vietnam war and compounded confusion over the issue in his television-radio interview this week.

The Minnesota Democrat, who says he'll run as an antiwar candidate in several 1968 presidential primaries, issued a statement Wednesday asking for equal time from the three major networks carrying the presidential interview on Tuesday night.

The networks had no immediate comment.

McCarthy disagreed with what he called Johnson's suggestion he's power hungry or a conspirator working for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another war policy critic.

"I think the President misunderstands me and greatly misunderstands what is troubling so many decent Americans," McCarthy said. He added the Johnson interview "only compounds the confusion of the administration's objectives in this ever-widening struggle."

Johnson, asked during the interview to comment on speculation that McCarthy is running just to generate support for Kennedy, replied: "I do know of the interest of both of them in the presidency and the ambition of both of them," but said he didn't know just what they would do or whether they would act in concert.

McCarthy denied "I am challenging him for the presidency because of some sort of ambition for power on my part, or, alternatively, that I am engaged in a conspiracy."

Kennedy, on a skiing holiday in Sun Valley, hasn't been available for comment on the Johnson interview.

McCarthy and Kennedy aren't the only Democrats opposed to Johnson's Vietnam policy, according to a survey by the Charleston (W.Va.) Gazette.

The newspaper said today it polled more than 2,800 delegates to the 1964 Democratic national convention and replies from more than 900 showed only 45.7 percent supported the President's war policy, with opinions about equally divided between those favoring a stepped-up war and those opposed to the war.

But the poll also showed an overwhelming majority of the 1964 delegates support Johnson for re-election.

As for Republican presidential prospects, 54.8 per cent of the Democratic delegates replying to the newspaper survey listed New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as the strongest possible opponent. Trailing well behind were former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

The Gallup Poll meanwhile said the Vietnam war was named the strongest single issue the Republicans could use in the 1968 campaign by the 1,898 local GOP leaders throughout the country participating in a separate survey.

But Republicans polled by Gallup said domestic problems taken collectively—government spending, crime and living costs—were considered stronger than the war issue.

Directed to Draw Up New Polk Contract

TOPEKA (AP) — The Kansas Highway Commission Wednesday directed its legal department to draw up a new contract with R. L. Polk and Co. of Detroit, a firm which purchases names of motor vehicle registrants and lists of new drivers.

The new contract will prohibit the sale of these names by Polk to direct mail advertisers.

The commission also will ask Polk to pay Kansas as much per name as it pays any other state.

Highway Bond Issue Criticized

TOPEKA (AP) — Democratic Gov. Robert Docking's proposal to build 612 miles of highway in Kansas and pay for them by a large bond issue brought immediate criticism from some Republicans Wednesday.

Rep. Arden Dierdorff, R-Smith Center, chairman of the House Roads and Highways Committee, said Docking "failed to meet the test of fiscal responsibility for a highway program."

Rex Duwe of Lucas, a Republican member of the Highway Commission, described the governor's proposal as "hazy" on details of financing. Duwe also advocated an increase in the gasoline tax and registration fees.

"I don't believe in borrowing money without the responsibility for paying it back," Duwe said. "It appears to me it is a plan to fly now and let someone else pay later."

Dierdorff said a more complete study should have been made of financing and said he thinks a fuel tax increase would be fair since highway users would be paying it.

Docking's plan calls for 206 miles of toll roads to cost $123.20 million plus 406 miles of expressway-type roads and two-lane limited access roads at an estimated cost of $210.70 million.

Total cost would come to something more than $330 million and the governor did not estimate how much the program would cost when interest is added.

Docking and his highway adviser, Gale Moss of El Dorado, outlined the program to a group of more than 100 legislators and others interested in highways. The meeting was held in the chamber of the House of Representatives.

Moss presented a large map showing the planned freeway construction.

Intervention From State Is Requested

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The state has been asked to intervene in the case of George B. Edmondson, who broke out of Missouri prison and fled to Canada to avoid serving a 10-year term on a robbery conviction.

His sentence was set aside Tuesday, and Jack Yocom, Greene County prosecutor, filed notice of appeal Wednesday with the Missouri attorney general. Yocom indicated he would seek to have Edmondson tried again.

Edmondson, now 30, was serving the sentence for a 1961 robbery of a Springfield, Mo., store when he escaped in 1965 from the state penitentiary. He was recognized and arrested last June in Canada, where he had become a respected construction engineer, and was returned to Missouri.

His plea that the 10-year term be vacated was granted Tuesday at nearby Joplin, Mo., by Judge Ray E. Watson of the Jasper County Circuit Court. Watson sustained a motion by Edmondson's attorney, James Dunn, that he had been inadequately represented by counsel at his second trial in 1965. Edmondson claimed he was misled into pleading guilty.

One of the witnesses against Edmondson, Glen Hendrix, former sheriff of Greene County, died two weeks ago. Yocom said he is certain two other witnesses of the 1961 holdup could be located.

Christmas Project For Students

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The sixth and seventh grades at Allen Elementary School have more than the usual decorations for Christmas. They have a Christmas project.

Their holiday greeting, written in the classroom blackboard reads in reply to cynical elders:

"Welcome to (Room) 102. Our God isn't dead. Sorry to hear about yours. Merry Christmas."

The youngsters also have organized a neighborhood campaign to petition the U.S. Supreme Court for reversal of its opinion banning prescribed religious observances in public schools.

They call it the "Y.A.C.S. — Young Americans for Christmas in School." Their goal is 650 names. The petition, being circulated from door to door, will be mailed to the court Christmas Day.

Casualties In War See Slight Drop

SAIGON (AP) — Allied and enemy casualties in the Vietnam war both dropped last week, the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported today.

The U.S. Command said 187 Americans were killed in action and 932 wounded in the seven-day period ending last Saturday at midnight. The week before 278 U.S. troops were reported killed and 1,643 wounded.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported 278 government troops were killed last week and 641 wounded. A week previous these totals had been 380 and 864. The Vietnamese reported 179 men missing last week, however, compared with 59 a week earlier.

Enemy casualties last week were put at 1,685 killed, down from 1,818 a week earlier.

The report raised to 15,646 the number of Americans reported killed in action in the war and the reported total of American wounded to 97,678. Of the total wounded, a U.S. spokesman said, 45,878 did not require hospitalization.

The summary reported that as of midnight Saturday there were 472,000 American military personnel in South Vietnam. This included the arrival last week of elements of the 101st Airborne Division but did not include the arrival this week of the 4,300-man 11th Infantry Brigade.

favorably. "One man said it was good to see children carrying petitions instead of guns and switchblades," Mrs. Shirley K. Schaaf, their teacher, reported.

"Our classes," she said, "are very integrated, with white, Negro and Spanish children. We all have enjoyed the differences we have. I don't believe we should neglect Christmas programs in the school, but I don't think we should go overboard."

Descent To Insanity Is Present

NEW YORK (AP) — The portrait of a man descending to insanity was powerfully present Wednesday night in CBS adaptation of Nikolai Gogol's "Diary of a Madman."

Roger Coggio, a French actor, was the solo performer in the hour special, a tour de force in his portrayal of a clerk in a 19th century Russian bureau. The drama started at the beginning of his breakdown as he began to imagine he was a suitor of his boss' daughter.

The next step came when he believed he heard a dog speak to him. Then one strange idea crowded another, and as he became more insane, he deteriorated physically as well. From a line in a newspaper, he was persuaded that he was the king of Spain, and his madness was complete.

The drama started with a slow pace, quickening as the subject sank into madness.

It was very effective. The cameras were used most imaginatively, showing the actor in closeup much of the time, but moving a lot around him in a way that suggested his confusion and turmoil.

The scene shifted from the sick man's plain lodgings at the beginning to a barred cell in a mad house. In the final scene, he was beseeching his mother for help, and then in an abrupt change of mood, burst out in a wild laugh.

It was an impressive performance and a rather painful experience for the viewer. CBS was wise to postpone the commercials until the end and even then that jolly jingle about the length of a cigarette seemed shockingly inappropriate.

Earlier in the evening, the channels were full of the spirit of the holidays.

On "Hollywood Palace," ABC,

Bing Crosby, his wife and three young children, all wearing Santa Claus beards were featured and Bing wound up the hour singing, of course, "White Christmas."

Then, on NBC, along came Mitzi Gaynor with a "Music Hall" Christmas show which also featured Santa Claus—Ed McMahon in a beard and singing "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas" slightly off key—and those wonderful Hollywood snow scenes. The high spot in the show was a Scrooge sketch with Cyril Ritchard playing a singing, dancing Ebenezer.

Miss Gaynor, an infrequent television performer, sings nicely and is a fine dancer. The show, however, was on the bland saccharine side.

It is nice that Christmas comes but once a year. A Christmas-loving viewer can get pretty tired of constantly hearing "Jingle Bells" and "The Little Drummer Boy" and seeing so many Santa Clauses with their phony Ho-Ho-Hos.

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Lange, 907 West Broadway, have as their guests for the holidays their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Lange and daughter, Heather, Bellmawr, N. J., and their daughter, Miss Luann Lange, a student at Washington University, St. Louis.

TENDENCY TO MYOPIA
NEW DELHI (AP) — Indians are short-sighted, claims Dr. P. M. Kapoor of the Indian Council of Medical Research. He said studies show a preponderance of myopia and an inherent tendency towards it.

At Last Winter Arrives

The Indians lived close to nature. They measured time by the leaves on the trees and the snows in winter. They did not need to look at a calendar to see on which day winter was due to arrive.

Their determination of the beginning and ending of what we refer to as the solstices and equinoxes may not have been right on the button. But even today with all our astronomical information do we pin point the change in seasons?

One reference source tells us the winter solstice begins December 21, another December 22—take your pick today or tomorrow. Webster informs us solstice is the point in the sky occupied by the sun ON or ABOUT December 22 when winter begins in the northern hemisphere.

However, in case Sedalians didn't notice the leaves falling the past month, winter is either here today or here tomorrow at 7:17 in the morning.

We are all agreed that there are many pleasant things about winter. Of course the best is Christmas Season when there seems to be a spontaneous renewal of faith and hope. How we need to concentrate on these attitudes this year!

Some joker reminds us—we think facetiously—that when the holidays are over, everyone will enter the new year with renewed strength. That may be speculative, depending on behavior of the celebrants.

If a person becomes disconsolate about short days and long nights he can put his mind to rest after today or tomorrow because from then on the days are going to become longer and the nights shorter until June 21 or June 22, or which is it?

In the meantime concentration on last minute Christmas shopping suggests itself. Sedalia stores are doing a bang up job serving Central Missouri customers. They will continue to be the mecca for shoppers, regardless of the globe's solstice or equinox changes.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Romney Puts Finances On-the-Line

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON—Michigan's square-jawed Gov. George Romney has put all other presidential contenders on the spot by lifting the blind on his personal finances. Not one of his rivals, approached by this column, would submit his finances to the same searching inspection.

However, have investigated the income and assets of the leading presidential prospects without their cooperation and have uncovered some of the facts they would prefer to keep hidden.

All the serious contenders, except Sen. Eugene McCarthy and possibly Richard Nixon, are millionaires. If Nixon is still a few thousand dollars short of his first million, he at least lives like a millionaire.

The two wealthiest, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Robert Kennedy, were born rich. The others, harassed from boyhood by abrasive money worries, earned their millions.

However, they weren't exactly born in log cabins. Nixon was the son of a grocer; Sen. Charles Percy, the son of a bank cashier; Gov. Ronald Reagan, shoe store manager's son; and Romney, a general contractor's son. President Johnson was born in white frame cottage on the banks of the Pedernale, the son of a farmer-legislator.

McCarthy also came out of a small-town, middle-class background, but he took up a teaching career, which was hardly calculated to make him rich. He now supplements his $30,000-a-year Senate salary by lecturing and writing.

—Romney Tells All—

Only Romney has been willing to talk in complete candor about his financial affairs. He balked at first when Look magazine's senior editor, George Harris, in preparing his book "Romney's Way," asked to see the governor's tax returns. Romney contended that a man's conduct, not his personal finances, was all that mattered. But after a moment's hesitation, he laid out his tax returns for the past 12 years.

These show, astonishingly, that Romney docked his own salary as president of American Motors when he took time off to attend Michigan's Constitutional Convention; that he donated an average of 19 per cent of each year's adjusted gross income to his church and an additional 4 per cent to straight charity; and that he seldom took advantage of loopholes to escape his tax obligations.

Before he hit the big time as an automobile tycoon, his total capital consisted of his equity in a mortgaged, $35,000 home. His adjusted gross income, thanks to stock options, reached $661,428 in 1960. The same year he paid $237,000 in federal taxes, contributed $156,038 to the Mormon church, and handed out another $16,697 to charities. He sold a block of stock in 1960, however, to pay off bank loans. Thus his charity contributions added up to only $400 less than his full year's regular income before taxes, counting both salary and bonus.

Over a five-year period, while he was engaged on the side in political activity, he cut his own salary by $268,000. American Motors' Board of Directors, pleased over the prosperity he had brought to the company, tried to raise the salary he insisted upon cutting. He brushed the offer aside.

In contrast, Romney's chief rival in the upcoming presidential primaries, Richard Nixon, has refused to bare his finances. Patrick Buchanan, speaking for the former Vice President, told our representative, in effect, that Nixon's personal finances were none of the public's business.

—Nixon's Take—

We can report, however, that Nixon takes in around $250,000 a year from his Wall Street law firm. When he left government, he reported his net worth at slightly over $50,000. Recently, he boasted to a friend that his income tax alone is now double the $35,000 salary he used to collect as vice president.

He moved in as senior partner in the respected, old Wall Street firm of Mudge, Stern, Baldwin and Todd after backstage pressure from two of its biggest clients, the Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Company and the Pepsi-Cola Company. Discreet calls were made to the firm by Elmer Bopst, Warner-Lambert's board chairman, and Donald Kendall, Pepsi-Cola's president.

A deal was hastily arranged, and the firm overnight became Nixon, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie, Alexander and Mitchell. Unlike Romney, Nixon has always accepted his full cut although he has spent half of his time politicking. He has also used some of the firm's junior attorneys as political volunteers.

Romney, as president of American Motors, continued to live frugally, drove one of his own Ramblers and on overnight trips simply parked on the roadside and slept in the car.

In contrast, Nixon has moved next door to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller into a plush, 12-room cooperative apartment at 810 Fifth Avenue. Without furniture, the apartment cost Nixon $35,000, plus a yearly maintenance fee of $9,600.

—Dick Gets Around—

He gets around New York City in a chauffeured black Chrysler Leebaron, dines out at such fashionable spots as "21," El Morocco and Delmonico's, and belongs to several exclusive clubs, including the Links, Metropolitan and Recess, plus such stylish country clubs as Blind Brook in Westchester and Baltusrol in New Jersey.

Half a dozen times a year, he flies down to Florida for a few days in the sun, usually as the guest of a banker friend, Bebe Rebozo, on Key Biscayne.

Nixon is now preparing for his annual Christmas party which, in the past, has featured a revolving Christmas tree, a strolling accordion player and fancy trimmings befitting a big-time corporate lawyer.

In future columns, we will examine the finances of other presidential prospects.

CANNEL AT BAY
Joyeux Noel
(Second Notice)

By WARD CANNEL

The other week, as regular readers may recall, we reported on the decline of the Spirit of Christmas Giving, which has become largely a relentless and automated search for the unusual, unlikely and unnecessary present.

At that time, we asked investors in this Xmarket to please cross us off their lists. Our plan for the modern giving and receiving season was to hibernate. As we pointed out, the gift without the giver is bear.

Well, since that writing we have had new evidence on this matter. And it appears that things are not so bad as originally reported.

True enough, the Spirit of Christmas Giving is somewhat inflated. But this condition does not seem to extend to all sectors of the Yuleconomy.

We are happy to report that the Spirit of Christmas Taking is still quite bullish and optimistic.

Last Wednesday morning, for example, the neighborhood junk man was pulling his cart down the street as we left the house.

"Season's greetings," he called, and gave us a nice little card which read:

"Season's Greetings! From Your Junk Man. (No checks please.)"

On Thursday, the delivery boy from the local grocery store hailed us.

"Merry Christmas," he said. "But no fruit cake this year. I can lift that kind of merchandise from the store."

On Friday we received a heartfelt and unrelieved Christmas handshake from the policeman who patrols our block from mid-December to New Year's Day.

On Saturday, the mailman delivered two lovely Christmas cards. One was from the mailman himself, and included his badge number and address. The second card was from the parcel post mailman.

On Sunday we received a Christmas card by special delivery from our special delivery mailman.

This week so far we have also received the warmest of Christmas greetings from the parking lot attendant ("Those socks last year were swell"), from two men working in a manhole down the street ("We'll be here through December"), from an organized charity (in Trieste), and from a disorganized charity in front of the drugstore who likes wine (muscate).

This morning we are in receipt of a hand-delivered Christmas card from the garbage men. It reads:

"Joyeux Noel! From Your Garbage Men. (Second notice.)"

"That's a pretty old joke," we said affably.

"Yeah," the garbage man said, replacing the empty pail on the sidewalk carefully and quietly.

"It was on the Johnny Carson show last year," we said.

"Yeah," he said, replacing the garbage pail cover with an unnecessary display of strength and noise.

Naturally we have a handsome plan for countering all of these hearty Christmas greetings. And the best part is where we Christmas wrap the garbage before putting it in the pail.

Suffice it to say that we will probably not put that plan into operation this year. Maybe next. Or the year after.

It all depends on whether we have enough energy left after campaigning against communism, imperialism and territorial expansionism.

"Why did I get involved with this slam?" thought South to himself. "Guess I shouldn't have bid that nine-high suit. Or maybe I shouldn't have jumped to three no-trump. No. I fear that North would have gotten me to six the moment I responded one diamond. On the other hand, had I responded one heart, North would have bid diamonds first. At least I am playing the hand and not watching helplessly as dummy."

Then South looked the hand over to see just what was his chance of actually making the hand. If West held both minor suit queens and both suits broke, everything would be wine and roses. How about if one queen were wrong? South studied a while more and saw that he had to pick up the club queen in any event, so at trick two South led a low club and finessed dummy's jack.

Things started well. His next plays were a high trump and a low club back toward his hand. If clubs were 4-1, East just might ruff, but East followed to the second club and South was ready to go after that queen of trumps.

That is, he was almost ready, because he noted that he did not really need to pick up the queen. As long as trumps would break 3-2, he could simply cash the last high trump and let whichever opponent held the queen make it at his leisure. Then he cashed dummy's last high trump and proceeded to play the rest of the clubs. East didn't trump, but nothing could do him any good. All he could make was that one trick whenever he chose to make it.

If South had tried the trump finesse, East would have taken his queen and led the suit back. South could discard one spade and one heart on clubs and ruff one spade and one heart, but he would be left with a loser at the finish.

A Public Servant

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The versatile Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen (R-Ill.) is like love — "a many splendored thing." Around the cocktail circuit in the capital he is known as the kissingest senator in town. Only Lynda Bird Robb at her wedding reception gave her cheek and not her lips to the minority leader for his congratulatory kiss. As a recording star his melodious voice will become immortal. On his Christmas record the beautiful carols and hymns give an appropriate background as he moderates the Christmas gospel with sincerity and truth. It appeals to adults and children alike. It should be played and listened through in homes across the country.

But never let it be forgotten that Dirksen of Illinois is a United States Senator. He is a public servant of long standing. He is a personal friend of President Johnson, but he is also "Mr. Republican." Meeting with members of the Women's National Press Club recently, the Senator summarized the 90th Congress and called it an "impressive one" not so much for what it did do, but for what it didn't do. "There is frustration because of the tax bill, Medicare, the crime bill and other matters," he said. "The Congress appropriated close to $138 billion, much of which was military, but we had to take a long look on many bills such as air pollution, reduction of expenses, the gun bill, crime and welfare."

On Vietnam, the Senator said, "We are hoping for negotiations, but we may have to end with a complete military victory. We do know that our troops in Vietnam are getting better care than any troops in history. We are also looking after the South Vietnamese people."

The Senator said a total of fourteen appropriations bills have been passed, including the supplementary bills. He emphasized that the Congress is the exclusive law-making body of the United States. Sometimes its members do not agree with the decisions of the Supreme Court, especially on the Mallory ruling and the Miranda cases.

Senator Dirksen said President Johnson had consulted with him on targets in Vietnam and he believed that bombing was too expensive to waste on useless targets. He also added that if we can't trust the generals, whom can we trust?

Penicillin Effective
In Early Stages of VD

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

(First of two related articles.)

Q — What are the symptoms of gonorrhea and syphilis? What is the treatment?

A — Usually the first sign of gonorrhea is a severe burning on urination, which appears five to six days after exposure. There is also a discharge of pus from the urethra that is especially noticeable on arising in the morning. In some women with this disease there are no symptoms in the early stages but later the uterine tubes may become involved. In this case the symptoms are similar to those of appendicitis.

Syphilis starts with a small hard tumor called a chancre which develops 10 to 90 days after exposure. It is located at the point where the causative organism enters the body. As with gonorrhea, this stage may go unnoticed in women. About four weeks later, in untreated cases, there may be a skin rash. In persons who receive no specific treatment or inadequate treatment, late manifestations of syphilis may cause serious damage in any part of the body.

Both diseases can be cured in the early stages with penicillin.

Q — If one had a venereal disease could it be detected with any of the following tests: PBI, CBC or urinalysis? If not, what test must be taken?

A — The PBI (protein-bound iodine) test is given to determine thyroid function. A CBC (complete blood count) is made to give a quick clue regarding anemia, leukemia, several acute febrile diseases, parasitic infections and allergies. Urinalysis gives information about diseases of the kidneys and bladder.

Aside from the fact that a microscopic examination of the urine would show many pus cells in a person with gonorrhea, none of these tests have any special value in the diagnosis of venereal diseases. The diagnosis of gonorrhea is based on a microscopic examination of a stained smear of the discharge. The diagnosis of syphilis is aided by a serologic (blood) test, a special microscopic (dark field) examination of serum from a chancre or a relatively new procedure called the TPI (Treponema pallida immobilization test). Treponema pallida is the name of the causative organism.

Q — Can a girl catch an infection of the genital organs from a toilet seat?

A — No. The germs of both gonorrhea and syphilis die very quickly when exposed to drying or a temperature below that of the body.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

William H. Prowell, for 13 years bookkeeper at Bothwell Memorial Hospital, resigned his position and will enter upon new duties at the Sedalia postoffice as a substitute mail carrier. He will be succeeded at the hospital by Miss Marie Steck, of Marion, Ohio.

FORTY YEARS AGO

C. Pope Jones of New York City, has become associated with the Harrison R. Burdick and Company, Inc., as manager of the unlisted and bank stock department. He is a son of Mrs. Anna Jones, 508½ South Ohio avenue, and a former Sedalian.

NINETY YEARS AGO

There were a great many drunken men in the city last night. Certain gentlemen who are filling right snug positions will find themselves out of a job when "the boss" discovers how they spend their evenings.

Democrat Pickups

Hungry for some divinity candy a girl bought some nuts and expected to go right home and make the candy. She didn't get the candy made as she expected to and when she got around to making it she didn't have any of the nuts left — she had eaten them all. — H.L.

Red for One Day

A courageous high school principal, Roger Kirk in Columbia, South Carolina, tried an interesting experiment. The students came to school one day recently and found the hammer and sickle banner instead of the American flag. Pictures of Soviet leaders adorned the classroom walls. Student council members, with arm bands, shouted, "Move it. . . no talking in the halls." Finally the public address system blasted, "Comrades, you are liberated."

The shocked students realized that they were living under Communism for a day. They were regimented to lunch behind the teachers, and election ballots were passed with the name of only one candidate.

At closing time Roger Kirk called a meeting of the students in the auditorium and explained what he had tried to do. He said:

"Some young people in other lands have come to school and heard what you heard today. It has happened in Poland and a number of other countries.

"You might say, 'Mr. Kirk, it can't happen here.' I tell you that you are wrong. It can and may happen to you and your liberty.

"I hope each of you will appreciate the privileges that are yours so much more. I hope that each of you profited by what I hope was a tremendous learning project.

"You may not have learned much in English, or in your other subjects. But you have learned something important."

Other schools could follow the Columbia example with a demonstration on what it is like to live under Communism. Some of our students will be future leaders of this country so it is important that they are well informed about what it means to live under the American flag.

Guest Editorial

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: Children on Welfare.—It would be wrong for Congress to freeze at present or past levels the number of children born out of wedlock who may receive welfare. Not because this is not a problem which needs early and strong action, but because such a freeze would be the wrong way to attack the issue.

Such a step would injure those who are both helpless and already injured. In most cases such children come into social and economic conditions which not only make for an unhappy childhood but stack future odds against them. If they are not eligible for aid to dependent children, they, not any adult, will be the likeliest sufferer.

The attack should be against the attitudes which bring such unfortunate little ones into the world and against such social and moral conditions as breed illegitimacy. We agree that it is intolerable that there be men and women who apparently think nothing of bringing a succession of children into the world under such circumstances. It is against them that wise but firm action should be taken.

As for the children of such conditions, they need more love and concern, not less.

THOUGHTS

Man Dies, But Idea Lives

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

In the end it was the man who died, but not the idea.

For a time a 53-year-old South African grocer with a failing heart had been given hope, indeed had lived 18 days with a strange new heart beating in his breast, and smiled and talked cautiously about the future.

Then he died, and with him the chance for success in this first attempt to transplant the human heart from one person to another.

The experiment was born out of the desperate frustration of doctors watching the whole man die for want of one healthy organ.

It will be tried again for the same reason.

In the last days, something began to accumulate slowly in the body, in the lungs, of Louis Washkansky. Perhaps it was the mysterious poison of rejection, or the subtle strands of an infection. Doctors are not sure which.

On Dec. 3 in daring surgery they had replaced Washkansky's sick heart with the more vital heart of Denise Ann Davall, 25, an auto accident victim. But now they were powerless to stop the secret forces moving against Washkansky.

The failure points up the gaps in man's knowledge. The doctors know how the heart works, how the blood courses through this vital pump to the lungs to be refreshed, and back through the heart to carry food and to cleanse the distant cells of the body.

They know how to keep a man alive briefly with a heart-lung machine. They know how to take a heart out and place it in another body.

They know that a certain white blood cell called a lymphocyte is a keystone to the body's ability to fight off infection, to build immunity, to reject things foreign. They know that somehow the lymphocyte recognizes protein intruders, and mobilizes against them.

They know that the body produces antibodies against germs and against foreign tissues. They know these antibodies are designed to attack specific targets.

But no one knows just how the immunity forces, the rejection mechanism, work. No one knows just how the body recognizes a transplanted heart or kidney or liver or spleen as a stranger. No one knows for certain whether there are one or many systems at work to protect the body.

The doctors give transplant patients powerful drugs to drive down the immunity forces, to make the body more tolerant although they know that when they do this they are nearly stripping the body of its weapons against even normally harmless infection.

Thus, the body may learn to tolerate its new kidney or heart only to die later of pneumonia.

The doctors see strange signs in the lungs and wonder if it is a bacteria they can fight with antibiotics, or a fungus, or a virus against which they are powerless.

The lungs, one of the body's filters, become the collecting point of trouble. Here doctors may find blood clots that form elsewhere, or clumps of cells, or slowly accumulating fluids when the heart shows signs of failure.

So it was with Louis Washkansky. If his lungs were infected, the infection did not respond to penicillin.

If it were some sign of rejection that showed in the lungs, the doctors could not recognize it.

From the beginning, Washkansky must have known the awful reality of his odds for survival. His was the first heart transplant, and the first of anything is the most risky.

He also must have known that his would not be the last. Even while he was recuperating, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, a Brooklyn heart surgeon, took the heart from a dead baby and transplanted it to the chest of a 2½ week old boy. For six hours the infant lived with his new heart, and then it failed, and the doctors did not know why.

Yet the men who pioneer transplants know they must try in humans, or never know the answers. They have not rushed to the surgical table. Dr. Kantrowitz said his hospital and his team felt they were ready to transplant a heart as early as mid-1966. Yet they did not attempt it until Dec. 6.

In the cases tried, death is first judged to be inevitable anyway for both donor and recipient, with or without the operation.

Surgeons also know that human heart transplants are not the answer for the half a million Americans who die each year of heart trouble. There would not be enough hearts to go around, even if doctors knew well enough how to make the heart last. The answer, almost everyone believes, is a truly artificial, man-made heart to replace those that become sick. Beyond that, the better answer is to prevent heart disease in the first place.

Yet perhaps a new heart could keep a person alive long enough for the artificial heart to become reality.

In any case, faced with a person 90 per cent healthy but dying for want of a heart or a kidney, doctors will take any reasonable step to thwart death.

For years they have transplanted kidneys and other organs to this end. In the beginning they met continual failure. Now their successes are growing.

The future holds other possibilities. In laboratory experiments surgeons have grafted the brain of one dog to the body of another. The transferred brain lived for three days.

Many researchers say it never will be practical to transplant the human brain. And even if it were, they ask, would you be giving a man a new brain, or a brain a new man.

Who is to say. But who would have guessed at the turn of the century that men would be taking out hearts, throwing them away, and replacing them with new hearts?

And when Louis Washkansky was born in 1914, who would have dreamed of the course his life would take.

Pet Dealer Thinks Of Shark Gift

NEW YORK (AP) — 'Tis the season to be jolly, and what could be jollier than getting a gift-wrapped shark for Christmas?

Or Santa Claus playing accomplice to a pair of bank robbers?

Or a Christmas tree which grows its own ornaments?

Or take the little Jewish boy who informs the store Santa Claus in Omaha that while he does not celebrate Christmas he does observe Chanukah, the festival of lights. So Santa Claus asks him what would he like for Chanukah, and the kid says "A Christmas tree."

The Christmas shark bit was dreamed up by a pet dealer in Caracas, Venezuela. As the gift for the man who has everything, including an extra swimming pool, the dealer offered live sharks at $22 a head.

Cincinnati was where Santa Claus turned up as the innocent stooge in a bank robbery. He was standing in front of the lens of a tell-tale camera intended to discourage holdups. So two gunmen clipped a teller for $4,200 and scrambled, unphotographed and unidentified.

The self-decorating Christmas tree? It has been developed in an arboretum at Placerville, Calif., by the Forest Genetics Institute of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The institute crossed two types of lodgepole pine and emerged with a tree which develops ornamental cones while still small enough to stand in a room.

In Portland, Ore., postal workers browsing through letters to Santa Claus ran across one from a little girl named Susan which contained a warning: "Santa, I want to tell you about our chimney. We haven't got one."

In Des Moines, Iowa, a merchant cutely wrapped his front door to resemble a big Christmas present and pasted on a label saying "Please DO open before Christmas."

A criminal prosecutor in Tulsa, Okla., was rather pleased to receive a Christmas card from a man he had sent to prison, at least until he read the greeting: "Christmas would be so much better this year, if only I were there, or you were here."

Charles Cruddock, a regional railway manager, banned carols from the public address system of nine London and suburban train stations, explaining: "I can imagine the ribald remarks passengers waiting for late-running trains might make when they hear 'God rest ye merry gentlemen, let nothing you dismay.'"

In Ipsley, England, the Rev. Frederick Foreman out-Scrooged Scrooge by denouncing carols as "meaningless twaddle." For instance, he pointed out, "merry gentlemen" might well be construed as a reference to a bunch of the boys whooping it up in a pub.

Unique Manger Scene

A large creche, or manger scene, started in 1944 by a German prisoner of war, will again be on display in Algona, Iowa, this Christmas. The creche, made up of 65 half life-size figures carved and painted by war prisoners, took more than a year to build. Edward Kaib, the man who began and completed the project, says he plans to return to Algona from Germany for Christmas in 1968. The return will be his first since his release after World War II. # Strike Has Its Effect

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — Three little brothers sing Christmas carols for pennies in the streets of Butte to buy presents for their strikebound family.

Mrs. Clifford Gustavsen, who is pregnant with her eighth child, counts food stamps and a $10 weekly union food coupon and says "It's going to be pretty hungry around here this Christmas."

Mrs. Fred Chase, mother of five and wife of a struck copper miner who is too proud to take welfare money, says, "You can't tell a small child Santa Claus is on strike."

This is Christmas time, 1967, for 3,500 copper miners and their families in Butte. Christmas Day will mark the 165th day of the nationwide copper strike for higher wages and fringe benefits.

There will be few gifts under striking miners' Christmas trees, and many will be eating deer they killed themselves instead of turkey.

"Our backs may be bowed, but our knees aren't bent," said Fred Chase, 42, a veteran of 15 years in the underground mines. "We'll just cheer each other up this year."

"I want my daddy to go back to work," said 9-year-old Mike

Gustavsen. His father, Clifford, a muscular miner, sits at home babysitting and plunking a guitar.

Mike and two of his brothers, Kenneth, 11, and John, 8, earned a handful of change singing Christmas carols in the streets in zero cold and snow, holding out their hands to passersby.

They used the money to buy for their four brothers and sisters a coloring book, some candy canes, a truck and two model flying saucer kits.

Mike's grandmother gave him a dollar for helping clean her house. He bought gloves for two of his brothers.

The Gustavsen family is like many others in which the father has been out of work for six months in a city where copper is the lifeblood of the economy. There are no signs of settlement of the strike—or even of negotiations.

Fifty thousand copper miners are idle in Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Arizona and Nevada.

Nearby towns are taking up collections of used toys and clothing for strike-bound families. One restaurant will feed 2,600 strikers and their families free on Christmas Day.

Schedule For Holiday Programs

At Sacred Heart Church Sunday the men's choir, under direction of Claude L. Boul, will begin the services at 11:45 p.m. with the singing of the traditional plainsong "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel." This will mark the end of the Advent season or the period of preparation. Then, to introduce the great feast of Christmas, the choir will sing "O Holy Night." At 11:55 p.m. the Crib will be blessed; the blessing will be preceded by the singing of three verses of the familiar "Silent Night." Immediately after the blessing of the Crib, the choir will sing "Laetamini in Domino." This beautiful hymn should strike a responsive chord in the heart of anyone who saw the movie "The Cardinal" in which this hymn was featured.

The Concelebrated High Mass will begin at midnight. The sung Mass will be the Mass in honor of St. George by Father Hamma; the Proper of the Mass will be the composition of A. Edmonds Tozer. The Offertory hymn will be "Adeste Fidelis"; the Communion hymn will be "Gesu Bambino." At the conclusion of the Mass, the entire congregation will join in the singing of the great hymn of praise, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Low Masses will be offered on Christmas day at 6, 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. There will be no late afternoon or evening Mass on Christmas day. Anyone who receives Holy Communion during the Midnight Mass may also receive Communion again on Dec. 25th if he participates in a second Mass in the day time. Christmas is one of only two days in the year when the faithful are granted this privilege.

On New Year's Day, a Holy day of Obligation, the Masses will be offered at 6, 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. There will be no late afternoon or evening Mass on Jan. 1, 1968.

Old Slang Word For Cage Star

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

They're calling Calvin Murphy, college basketball's new high scoring leader, the Skidoo Kid.

Why? Because he wears uniform No. 23 for the University of Niagara Purple Eagles. It's a takeoff on the slang expression of yesterday — 23, skidoo.

Murphy, a 5-foot-10 sophomore, replaced Pistol Pete Maravich of Louisiana State as No. 1 major college scorer today in the latest NCAA statistics with a 45.6 point average.

The Skidoo Kid got 42 points against Cornell Wednesday night, but it wasn't enough to keep the Ivy League Big Red from winning 84-78. In fact, Murphy fouled out in the closing minutes and it was his man, Gregg Morris, who got loose for a side shot that broke a 61-61 tie and put Cornell ahead for good with seven minutes left.

Boston College, Tennessee and Bradley, the only teams in the Associated Press Top Ten to see action, each won handily.

Eighth-ranked B.C., led by Bob Dukiet's 23 points, trounced North Carolina State 72-55 after Providence whipped LaSalle 77-56 in the first round of the Boston Garden Invitational.

Tennessee, ninth-ranked, made it 28 in a row at home as the Vols defeated Wake Forest 81-63 at Knoxville. Unbeaten Bradley, No. 10, won its eighth straight by routing San Diego State, No. 1 in the AP small college poll 95-76 at Peoria.

Manhattan downed Bowling Green 74-64 and Marshall whipped Virginia 97-89 in the first round of the Marshall Invitational at Huntington, W. Va.

Wisconsin came from behind, paced by James Johnson's 27 points, and beat Florida 86-81 at Madison, Wis., in one of the top intersectional games.

In others, St. John's of New York downed St. Mary's, Calif., 67-50, in New York, Los Angeles Loyola humbled Xavier of Ohio 80-69 at Cincinnati, Texas defeated Ucal

Santa Barbara, 87-75 at Austin, Denver whipped Southern Methodist 86-81 at Dallas, Marquette licked Villanova 81-62 at Milwaukee, Tulane crushed Dartmouth 97-76 at New Orleans and Colorado humbled Northwestern 73-68 at Boulder.

Butler surprised Purdue despite 23 points by soph star, Rick Mount, 76-59. In other home court triumphs, DePaul downed Iowa State 67-63, Michigan State overcame Nebraska 74-70, Idaho tripped Ohio Univ., 78-64 and Creighton humbled Minnesota 82-65.

On the road, Tulsa routed Memphis State 64-47, Yale beat Tampa 82-66, Brown took Stetson 75-66 and Drake downed Valparaiso 95-76.

Black Hawks Once Again Rule In Hockey Circles

Two Hulls Make Up For Slack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The brothers Hull have completed Operation Overhaul and Chicago's hot Black Hawks once more rule the National Hockey League roost.

Brilliant Bobby Hull scored his 26th and 27th goals of the season Wednesday night and brother Dennis also connected twice as the defending NHL champs, left at the gate in October, whipped Boston 6-3 and grabbed sole possession of first place in the East Division race.

The victory extended Chicago's unbeaten streak to eight games and sent the Hawks, who started the season with a six-game losing string, two points up on the Bruins, who fell into the runner-up spot.

Elsewhere, Dick Duff's hat trick paced the Montreal Canadiens to a 5-0 triumph over Toronto. New York blanked Detroit 2-0 and St. Louis edged Oakland 2-1.

Bobby Hull struck twice in the third period at Chicago after Pit Martin broke a 3-3 tie early in the session. Dennis Hull, who started as slowly as the Black Hawks with just three goals in 31 previous games, scored in each of the first two periods and Kenny Wharram's second period goal completed the Chicago attack.

Rookie Derek Sanderson scored twice for the Bruins.

Duff teamed with new linemates Henri Richard and Bob by Rousseau to riddle the Maple Leafs while Montreal goalie Gump Worsley turned away 27 shots on the way to his third shutout.

Duff, a former Leaf, scored in each period for a season total of eight goals. Richard picked up four assists and Rousseau had a goal and three assists for the Canadiens.

Rod Gilbert's fourth goal in two games snapped a scoreless tie in the third period at New York and Phil Goyette's open net tally in the final minute wrapped up the Rangers' victory, which sent them into a tie for fourth place with Detroit in the East.

Goalie Ed Giacomin earned his second shutout with a 27-save effort.

Rookie Frank St. Marseilles fired his second goal of the game with less than six minutes to play, lifting the Blues past the Seals at Oakland. The victory gave St. Louis a two-point edge over the last place Seals in the West Division.

Philadelphia Sets a Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers exploded for 53 points in the last quarter against Seattle and set a record in the National Basketball Association.

Big Wilt Chamberlain, with 53 points and 38 rebounds, helped the NBA champions erase the league mark for most points in one quarter in their 160-122 rout of the Supersonics Wednesday night.

In the other games, all played on the West Coast also, New York whipped Los Angeles 138-131, San Francisco edged Detroit 113-109 and Boston downed San Diego 126-116.

Chamberlain made 14 consecutive field goals as the 76ers, ahead by only 65-59 at halftime, broke the game wide open in the second half against Seattle. The 53 points in the last quarter broke the previous NBA mark of 52 set by Boston against Minneapolis in Feb. 1959 and equalled by Baltimore against Detroit in Dec. 1965.

Rauch Is Named Coach Of the Year

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — John Rauch, who piloted the Oakland Raiders to their first American Football League Western Division title ever, has been selected AFL Coach of the Year by a nationwide Associated Press panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Rauch outdistanced San Diego's Sid Gillman and Wally Lemm of Houston in voting by three-man committees in each of the AFL's nine league cities.

It was a romp to the Western crown by the underdog Raiders, who trailed Kansas City in pre-season estimates but made a shambles of the race by drubbing the Chiefs and prime contender San Diego, that gave Rauch the nod.

In only his second year as head coach of the Oakland entry, Rauch molded the Raiders into title contenders with a re-designed offense and one of the AFL's stingiest defenses.

The Raiders lead the league defensively, allowing only 237.2 yards per game. Offensively, Oakland has scored the most touchdowns and the most points. En route to the title, the Raiders, 12-1, won nine straight games, with one still to go.

The year has been a coach's dream, but one which Rauch had a great deal to do in molding. He stepped up to the top job as coach succeeding Al Davis before the 1966 season. The 8-5-1 record was good, but not good enough.

During the off-season, he swung a controversial trade which sent longtime Oakland quarterback Tom Flores and split end Art Powell to Buffalo for quarterback Darley Lamoni-ca, who had warmed the Bills bench for four years, and Glenn Bass, a wide receiver.

Bass failed to make the Raiders in training camp and the deal looked like a bust but suddenly, under the careful tutelage of Rauch, Lamoni-ca developed into a star.

Louisiana Bayou Boys Feel Pain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Professional basketball came to Mississippi Wednesday and the boys from the Louisiana tundra had a better time of it than the ones from the Louisiana bayou.

The Minnesota Muskies beat the New Orleans Buccaneers 100-93 as some 4,500 fans turned out in Jackson, Miss., for an American Basketball Association game that had been switched from Memphis, Tenn., because of poor attendance at earlier games there.

Actually, the Eastern Division-leading Muskies needed the victory far more than Bucs, who led in the West. Minnesota now leads Pittsburgh by just one game, while New Orleans is up by 6½ games over Denver.

In other ABA games Wednesday night, Houston edged Kentucky 99-98 at Houston and Indiana nipped Anaheim 144-142 at Fresno, Calif.

In the National Basketball Association Wednesday, Philadelphia walloped Seattle 160-122, Boston downed San Diego 126-116, San Francisco defeated Detroit 113-109 and New York humbled Los Angeles 138-131.

New Orleans led by as many as 11 points in the first half, but Minnesota came charging back and went ahead late in the third period on a layup by Les Hunter. Don Freeman led the Muskies with 30 points while Jack Moreland topped the Bucs with 24.

Houston, leading by as many as 17 points in the third quarter, actually went behind late in the fourth quarter before Jerry Pettway scored with 1:15 remaining and stole the ball with two seconds left won the game. Wilbert Frazier of the Mavericks and Jim Ligon of the Colonnels each had 21 points.

Free throws by Roger Brown and Bobby Edwards in the last minute gave Indiana its squeaker over Anaheim. Bob Netolicky, who paced the winners with 36 points, preserved the win by smothering a last second shot by Les Selva of the Amigos. Warren Davis was high for the Amigos with 31 points.

Versailles Tourney Is Scheduled

The Versailles Invitational Tournament will be held Jan. 2 through Jan. 6, 1968.

Competing in the tourney will be Tipton, Cole Camp, Eldon, Versailles, Russellville, South-Calloway, Eugene and the Smith-Cotton Junior Varsity.

Tipton's Cardinals are seeded first in the tourney. Eugene is picked for second, Russellville third and Versailles fourth.

First-round games will pit Tipton against Cole Camp and Smith-Cotton JV against Eugene on Tuesday, Jan. 2. Jan. 3 games will see Eldon go against Versailles and Russellville vie with South-Calloway.

Referees for the tourney will be Pete Adkins, Rex Adams and Bud Kessinger.

Black Hawks star center Stan Mikita wears a special helmet to guard an ear which required 17 stitches as he trips and starts a swan-like dive over Boston Bruins goalie Gerry Cheevers in the first period of a game between the Black Hawks and Bruins in Chicago. (UPI)

Poet May Have Lines Of Comfort

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers, for all their troubles, may be able to derive some comfort from Shakespeare's line, "Sweet are the uses of adversity."

The Packers have an imposing list of walking wounded for their showdown with the Los Angeles Rams in Milwaukee Saturday for the National Football League's Western Conference crown.

The defending champions have only two healthy running backs, Travis Williams and Chuck Mercein, and have dropped their last two games, including a 27-24 loss to the same Rams.

But they've been minus starting players before and have won the big games.

In 1962 halfback Paul Hornung, linebacker Ray Nitschke and end Boyd Dowler went into Army service and played intermittently after the fifth game, seeing action only when they could get permission to leave camp.

But that team racked up a 13-1 record and defeated the New York Giants 16-7 for the NFL title.

And two years ago in a playoff Baltimore with Baltimore, quarterback Bart Starr was lost on the initial play. But Zeke Bratkowski piloted Green Bay from a 10-point deficit to a tie in regulation play and the Packers won on Don Chandler's field goal.

Coach Vince Lombardi's teams have rarely lost to the same team twice in a season — to Baltimore in 1959 and 1964 and to Chicago in 1963 — and they didn't take the crown either year.

Hitting Was Key For Boston Team

BOSTON (AP) — Pitching and defense may be considered the key to championship baseball, but the Boston Red Sox took care of matters with their hitting in winning the American League pennant this year.

The Red Sox, who led the league in most hitting departments, finished eighth in club pitching with a combined 3.36 earned run average.

And, in the fielding department, the Red Sox finished next to last, beating out the lowly New York Yankees by just one percentage point for ninth place.

Official fielding records announced Wednesday by AL President Joe Cronin showed that the Red Sox committed 142 errors for a fielding mark of .977.

The fifth-place California Angels led the league with .982. Cleveland was second with .981, followed by Baltimore with .980 and Chicago with .979.

Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles led the league's regular third basemen for the seventh time with a fielding mark of .980.

Other individual leaders were first baseman Norm Cash of Detroit, .995; second baseman Horace Clarke of New York, .990; shortstop Ed Brinkman of Washington, .979; outfielder Ted Uhlaender of Minnesota, .996, and catcher Joe Azcue of Cleveland, .999.

A total of 55 pitchers posted 1,000 fielding averages in 10 or more games. Chicago's Joe Horlen was the leader, handling 82 chances cleanly.

The California Angels committed the fewest errors, 111 and the Yankees the most, 154.

MU Traveling West To Seek Victories

COLUMBIA, MO., Dec. 20 — Missouri goes west this week on a two-game shopping spree for pre-Christmas basketball victories in Colorado and Utah.

The Tigers (3-3) meet Colorado State (3-4) at Ft. Collins on Thursday night — and Utah State at Logan two nights later. Next stop is the Big Eight tournament field at Kansas City.

The Tigers are trying to recoup after a 79-68 loss to Northwestern's rangy, poised Wildcats here Monday. Gene Jones, 6-6 M.U. center, flicked in 24 points — his career high — in the loss, and sophomore Don Tomlinson added 21.

Coach Norm Stewart praised both — acknowledging that Mizzou didn't get a like contribution from other starters.

"That Jones does a great job on the inside for a slender 6-ft. 6 player. Nobody intimidates him. And Tomlinson showed me something in that ball-game after spending the previous 24 hours in a clinic."

The Bengals never have met Colorado State or Utah State, a National Invitation tournament invitee last year, previously, C.S.U. features a balanced attack, led by Lloyd Kerr's 11.3-point average and a 10.8-point output by Martin Hess. The Rams have size at the pivot in 6-10 Mike Davis.

The U-Staters, meanwhile, come equipped with two excellent sharpshooters — 6-6 Shaler Halimon and 6-3 Jim Smith. Through six games, Halimon is averaging 25.2 points, and Smith 22.8. Coach Ladell Andersen's Utags stood 4-2, with games against San Jose State and Notre Dame prior to the Mizzou test.

Angle Braces a Solution To Sticky Drawer Poser

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I read about Shirley's pretty dresser coming apart at the drawers and presume she is having trouble with the bar or divider supporting the drawers. Nails are out of order and glue is insufficient so I have used angle braces applied with screws on the inside. This is a mean little job. Also check the drawer guides as they should hold the drawers.—BUD, a carpenter and cabinet maker.

DEAR READERS—Annabelle had the same problem and she and her husband also applied inside metal corner braces after they had reglued the corners in place. She had a good word of warning—make sure the screws that come with the braces are not too long or they will go through the sides or front of the drawer.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—Like most children, mine used to wash their hands either using no soap or, when it is used, leaving it in the water to waste away. Now I have a plain plastic dishwashing liquid bottle on the wash basin. In it I put 1/2 cup of the liquid detergent and fill with water so it goes much further. The children now fill the basin with water and love squirting some liquid on their hands. This bottle could be decorated any way you like for a more attractive look.—SYLVIA.

DEAR POLLY—Our front door was sticking so I sprinkled baby powder across the top where it seemed to stick. It has opened smooth and easy ever since, even through rainy and hot summer weather.—ELAINE.

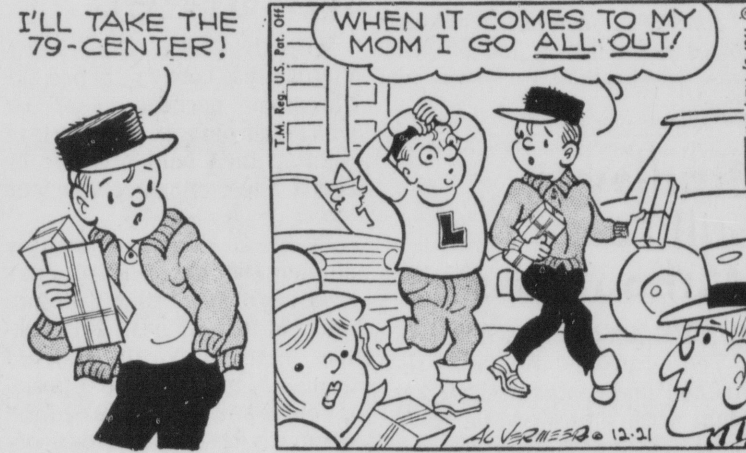

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I do a lot of sewing so have accumulated a large number of empty spools. Do you know of something easy I could make with them?—MRS. M.C.K.

DEAR GIRLS—We have had the instructions for making tables with spools. What else do you make with them?—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—When painting a picture frame or other small thing I always hated to have to clean the little brush after such a tiny job. Now I use a small piece (about 2x3 inches) of solid foam rubber which is part of scraps left from a cushion I made. When finished, I just throw it away. Varnish really goes on smooth with this.—HELEN. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

"Stop worrying about me being late for school, Mom! It never takes me more than half an hour to put on my eye makeup!"

Colorado Is Only Big 8 Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colorado was the only winner in Big Eight basketball Wednesday night. Iowa State and Nebraska were the losers.

The Buffaloes, behind until late in the game, put together two free throws and a field goal in the final five seconds for a 73-68 comeback victory over Northwestern at Boulder. Chuck Williams of Colorado was the scoring leader with 24 points.

Colorado trailed 37-31 at half-time then switched to a man-to-man defense the second half, forcing the Wildcats into technical errors.

Iowa State ran into undefeated DePaul at Chicago, and made a game of it until George Poulas of DePaul put the winners out of reach with two foul shots, 67-63. Tom Goodman of Iowa State missed the tying shot from 40 feet out a moment before. Al Zetsche of DePaul was the high-point man with 26. Don Smith led the Cyclones with 17.

Nebraska stayed with Michigan State at East Lansing but couldn't match the Spartans' Lee Lafayette who scored 29 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. The Cornhuskers never led, but trimmed a 16-point Spartan lead down to four at the finish.

Tonight, Kansas travels to Louisville for a rematch with the Cardinals who dealt the Jayhawks a humiliating 57-51 setback in Lawrence, and Missouri heads west for a meeting with Colorado State. Oklahoma State will play in the Sun Devil tournament with Michigan, Oregon State and Arizona State.

Wesleyan Is Sure To Close Gap

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers are likely to at least close the gap between themselves and leading San Diego State in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll now that the Aztecs' unbeaten streak has gone by the boards.

San Diego State remained in the No. 1 spot in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday.

The Aztecs, though, were beaten by Indiana State 84-69 Monday night. Runner-up Kentucky Wesleyan overwhelmed Texas Wesleyan 113-87 the same evening.

In the latest balloting by a national panel of 14 sports writers and broadcasters, San Diego State received five votes for first place and 108 points. Kentucky Wesleyan had one first-place vote and 87 points.

Southwestern of Louisiana climbed two positions to third after defeating Northeastern, La. and Lamar Tech in last week's games.

San Diego State had a 4-0 mark. Kentucky Wesleyan was 4-1 and SW Louisiana 5-0 through Saturday's games.

Evansville holds down the No. 4 spot followed by Trinity, Tex., Indiana State, Long Island University, Winston-Salem, Akron and Cheyney State.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. San Diego St. (5) 108
2. Kentucky Wesleyan (1) 87
3. Southwestern, La. (3) 82
4. Evansville (1) 79
5. Trinity, Tex. (2) 77
6. Indiana State (1) 47
7. Long Island U. 41
8. Winston-Salem 36
9. Akron 28
10. Cheyney State 22

St. Benedict's Is Ousted By Fort Hays State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fort Hays State shot down unbeaten St. Benedict's 75-70 in an otherwise uneventful evening for small college basketball in Missouri and Kansas Wednesday night.

It was the first loss for the NAIA champions in 23 games, and Fort Hays' fifth victory this season against one loss. What was more humiliating, the Ravens were beaten on their own court, where they hadn't been defeated since 1965, or 32 games ago.

The crusher was applied in the final three minutes and seven seconds after St. Benedict's scoring ace, Darryl Jones fouled out and Fred Andregg pulled Fort Hays into a 66-all tie with a free throw.

Fort Hays stayed in front 69-68 and 71-70, then the Ravens' desperate attempts to retrieve the ball forced them into fouls, both of which were converted in the last 28 seconds for the final score.

In other games, Washburn pinned a 76-68 loss on Rockhurst in overtime, and Warrensburg State whipped Pittsburg State 81-79.

Christiansen Is Fired By San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League fired Coach Jack Christiansen on his 39th birthday Wednesday — and speculation swirled as to a possible successor.

The ax was not entirely unexpected following this season's 7-7 mark.

The names of two Christiansen assistants—Bill Johnson and Y.A. Tittle—have come up as possible successors.

Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, gave Christiansen his notice at a meeting in Redwood City, and said he had not had any contacts concerning a possible successor—but would like to start talks soon.

Christiansen commented: "That happens to a coach if he doesn't win. Mr. Spadia gave no reason. He said things didn't work out like he hoped and he wanted a change."

"I had hoped to be given a chance to continue after we won our last two games."

He noted his record the past three years was 20-19-3 after taking the 49ers at the bottom from fired Coach Red Hickey in 1963. He had a 2-9 mark the remainder of that season and was 4-10 in 1964.

Christiansen, whose salary was undisclosed, said he had no contract.

Landry Has Respect For Cleveland

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys expressed great respect for Cleveland's running game today although the Cowboys handled it well the last time the two teams met.

That, however, was in September, when Dallas held the Browns to a minus five yards. It also limited the heralded runners, Leroy Kelly and Ernie Green, to a total of 15 yards between them.

"They had little psychology going for them that day," Landry pointed out, "with Frank Ryan starting with a bad ankle and getting another before the day was out."

The Cowboys coach said there just was no comparison now, that Cleveland had a great running game, extra good punt returns and "if Ryan throws as well as expected they will have one of the best teams in football playing us."

He was speaking of Sunday's Eastern Conference playoff when the Cowboys will be trying to return to the National Football League finals.

Kelly will enter that game with the NFL rushing championship. He got it with 1,205 yards. Green, with 90 less tries, has racked up 710 yards.

The Cleveland team is the league rushing leader with 152.8 yards per game.

Rule Makers Can't Stop His Scoring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tenth-ranked Bradley remained undefeated Wednesday night with a resounding 95-76 defeat of San Diego State, the No. 1-rated small college team in the nation.

In another nonconference Missouri Valley game, Drake did the same to Valparaiso 95-75, and Tulsa won its seventh victory in eight games by beating Memphis State 64-47. It was Tulsa's first conference game.

Bradley outscored San Diego 22-5 in the final six minutes after the Aztecs crept with two points of the Braves 73-71, running its winning string to eight.

Joe Allen paced the Braves with 25 points, high for the night. The Braves had difficulty the first half solving the San Diego defense, then Allen and Al Smith broke through for nine straight points to put Bradley ahead to stay at halftime 44-41. Smith had 23 points. Bradley averaged a torrid 71 per cent shooting average, hitting 42 of 59 shots from the field.

Tulsa shot 53 per cent and controlled the backboards 47-29 and, if that wasn't enough, dominated free throw shooting with 50 per cent. Doug Robinson led the Hurricane with 18 points, equaled by Mackie Smith of Memphis State.

"I see Bob Cousy wants to make the baskets smaller," Lienenhard said. "If they do, they'll score just as much."

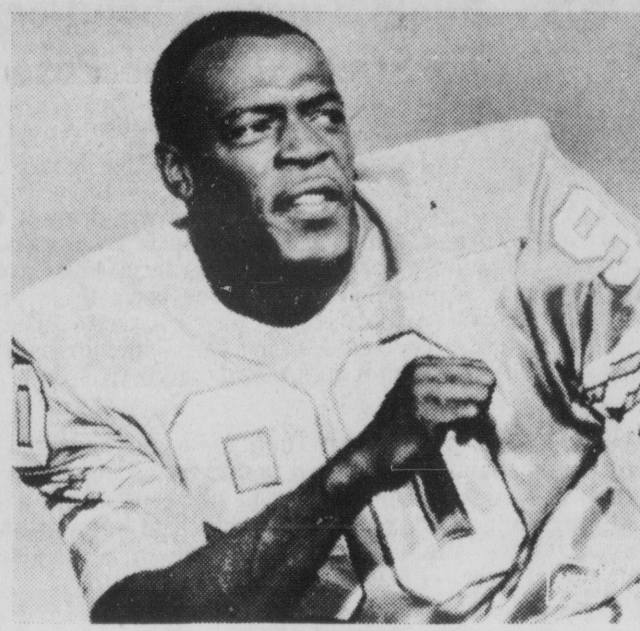

"Tennessee experimented by raising the baskets to 12 feet but it only expanded the rebound area. The guys still popped them in from the outside."

"The outside shot is one of the easiest in basketball," Lienenhard played against Alcindor when he, Lienenhard, attended Rice High School in Harlem and Alcindor was enrolled at Power Memorial in Manhattan. Alcindor was a year ahead.

"Lew is the best basketball player I ever saw," Lienenhard said. "I was young at the time but almost as tall as he was. He clobbered me."

AFL Rookie of the Year

GEORGE WEBSTER
Impact heard 'round the AFL

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The nine coaches of the American Football League have made George Webster of the Houston Oilers their clear-cut choice as the 1967 Rookie of the Year.

In a special poll conducted by NEA, Webster emerged with a majority of five votes.

Dick Post, the pint-sized running back of the San Diego Chargers, was named by two. Others mentioned were Gene Upshaw, the impressive offensive guard of the Oakland Raiders, and the Miami battery of quarterback Bob Griese and split end Jack Blancy, who received a split vote.

The most surprising aspect of the 1967 season in the AFL was the resurgence of the defensive platoon of the Houston Oilers. Last year, it gave up more points than any team in the league. This year, it catapulted the Oilers into the race for the Eastern Division title.

From the day he reported to the Houston camp, Webster was the welding force of that defense as a corner linebacker. At 6-5 and 225 pounds, he has both the range and the size to seal off the run and the pass. He has made an impact on the entire league.

At Michigan State, he had been a two-time All-American as the "monster man" of the Spartans' backfield. George wasn't an unknown quantity in the collegiate draft. He was the fifth man picked (and, of course, the Oilers' first choice).

He'll be around for a long time as an All-Pro, in addition to his initial rookie laurels.

Rams Got In Last Round Of Practice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams got in a final home field practice Thursday and then flew away to Milwaukee to face the Green Bay Packers, leaving behind at least one unanimous belief.

The Packers' loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers last week, 24-17, means the Packers will be tougher than ever Saturday in the Western Conference title game with Los Angeles.

Defensive tackle Roger Brown, a valuable man in the front four and a costar in the rout of Baltimore last Sunday, put it this way:

"The Packers probably had their minds more on the Ram-Colt game than they did on the Steelers. They'll be the old Packers Saturday."

Big Roger, who came to the Rams after a brilliant career with the Detroit Lions and filled a huge gap created when Roosevelt Grier was hurt, played his greatest game of the year against the Colts.

Johnny Unitas was thrown for losses seven times and Brown was responsible for two of them.

CLUB NEWS

A different and enjoyable Christmas meeting was held for Altrusa Club of Sedalia on Dec. 18, in the luncheon room of the Jefferson Grade School, with Mrs. Imogene Peoples, school principal, as hostess.

Mrs. Dorothy Riley, president, presided over the business meeting.

After the serving of a turkey dinner the Christmas program was presented by the school.

Mrs. Jill Cross sang a solo, "Silver Bells."

The remainder of the program was given by the children with Room 3 singing "Sleigh Bells," and plays by Room 4, "Toy Trouble," and Room 1, "When Santa Sleeps."

A money donation was presented to the school to use for lunches for worthy children.

Also gifts for the women at Buena Vista Home were given to Altrusan, Mrs. Mary Green, superintendent of Buena Vista.

The next meeting will be at noon January 2, at Bothwell Hotel.

Green Ridge Rebekah Lodge met Monday night December 18, at the lodge hall, with Miss Nola Barrow, noble grand, presiding.

Before the lodge session opened the members packed forty-two Christmas sacks with cookies, candy and fresh fruit to be delivered to the residents of the Green Ridge community. Mrs. Albert Upton was in charge of the project.

Miss Barrow reported that seven members attended a district instructional meeting at Warrensburg recently. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Loy Smith, Miss Nola Barrow, Mrs. Albert Upton, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morgan and Mrs. Jack Morgan. Mrs. Martha Scherlerio, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Missouri and Dimple Sartin, district deputy president, were special guests at this meeting.

Sixteen bed pads were made by the members of the Green Ridge Lodge to be sent to the I.O.O.F. Hospital at Liberty.

Mrs. Loy Smith, Mrs. Lloyd Brown, and Mrs. Jack Morgan were appointed in charge of refreshments on Monday night, January 15, for installation of officers.

Mrs. Helen F. McNew gave a short talk, "Put Christ Back into Christmas," and "Christmas is a Time for Giving." Mrs. Guy Ridenour read the Christmas scripture, and Mrs. McNew sang "O Holy Night," accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Egbert.

After the lodge session the members held a gift exchange. Christmas arrangements combined of evergreen, poinsettias, Christmas balls, candles, ribbon, and Christmas angels adorned the pedestals, desk, and piano. Mrs. Helen F. McNew was in charge of the decorations, and a lighted Christmas tree added to the festivity.

The Brick Homemakers Extension Club entertained their families with a turkey dinner Dec. 13 at the American Legion Home, with Mrs. J. H. Parsons as dinner chairman, assisted by Mrs. Vincil Fry and Mrs. James Wear. The Rev. Everett Erickson said grace before the meal.

Following the dinner Mrs.

Erickson led the members in singing and Mrs. Thomas Nichols led in the games.

The president, Mrs. Leo J. Smith, displayed the certificate of achievement for the year's work accomplished by the club.

She announced the members rated a blue ribbon. An announcement was also made of the Christmas meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Frank Yeager with Mrs. Charles Corson and Mrs. Mary E. Greer as assisting hostesses.

The meeting was dismissed by the Rev. Erickson.

The Epsilon Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mrs. Felix Melvin on Dec. 11 for a regular meeting and annual Christmas gift exchange.

Plans were discussed for the Beta Sigma Phi Christmas party and Mrs. Jerry Oldham presented the program on the origin and early progress of man.

Following the closing ritual gifts from secret pals were distributed and baked Alaska, cookies, candy, and fruit punch were served by hostess Mrs. Melsin and co-hostess Mrs. Larv Wilson.

Spending Bill Signed By Johnson

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — President Johnson complied with a congressional order and took action today that will lead to a spending cut of $4.3 billion. It could also lead to congressional enactment of a tax increase next year.

Johnson signed the spending-cut resolution on his plane as he winged to this tiny island territory from Honolulu, en route to Australia to pay final tribute to Prime Minister Harold E. Holt. He arrived in Pago Pago at 5:52 a.m., EST, for a brief stopover.

The President noted Congress had pared appropriations by $1.8 billion and vowed he would follow its directive to cut an additional $2.5 billion because of the need to preserve the strength of the dollar.

In the recently concluded session of Congress, the spending cut was made a condition of passage of Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee. And while the tax bill died, Mills has made clear the same condition would apply when the surcharge proposal is brought up again in January.

Johnson's destination was Canberra, the Australian capital, where he was expected to have an opportunity to chat individually with representatives of his allies in the Vietnam war and perhaps with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The American chief executive will fly to Melbourne on Friday to attend memorial services for Holt, who was lost in a weekend swimming accident.

Says Jury Verdict Is An 'Error'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Kirschke, a suspended deputy district attorney convicted of murdering his wife and her alleged lover, says the jury's decision was "a terrible error which in due time will be corrected." He plans to appeal the verdict.

The jury convicted Kirschke Tuesday after a 13-week trial. On Jan. 8 it will decide whether the penalty should be life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber. The prosecution said it had not decided whether to press for the death penalty.

"We haven't lost the war, son," Kirschke told young Doug Kirschke, 24, before bailiffs took him back to his cell. "We've just lost a battle. And from now on it's really going to be a battle."

The verdict was returned after 22 hours and 43 minutes of deliberation. "It was Jack Kirschke's gun, it was his house, it was his bed, it was his wife, and it was his wife's lover," said prosecutor Albert Harris, an assistant attorney general.

"If Jack Kirschke didn't do it, then who did?"

The bodies of Kirschke's wife, fashion designer Elaine Terry Kirschke, 43, and Orville Drankhan, 41, were found in the bedroom of the Kirschke's Long Beach apartment April 8.

Mrs. Kirschke's body was found on a bed, clad only in a kimono top and shot in the head. Drankhan was sprawled fully clothed on the floor next to the bed, also shot in the head.

It was never clearly established when the shootings took place—the bodies were discovered too long after death for medical experts to pinpoint the time.

The prosecution contended that Kirschke, irate because of repeated infidelities of his wife, shot her and Drankhan in an embrace of the Kirschkes' bed. The murders took place early in the morning, the prosecution said.

Testimony during the trial centered on the fast life the Kirschkes led in Long Beach. Witnesses said Mrs. Kirschke belonged to a group of women called the "jolly girls," who covered for each other's marital infidelities.

Kirschke, 46, did not take the stand in his own defense. But defense attorney Albert C.S.

Dedicate Blue Book

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's 1967-68 Blue Book will be dedicated to the late Gov. Forrest Smith, who served as the 42nd governor from 1949 through 1953.

Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick, Smith's former administrative assistant, said distribution of the official state manual will start soon after the first of the year.

Ramsey repeatedly contended that a reasonable doubt existed as to Kirschke's guilt.

IN THE NEWS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Parliament passed a law Tuesday under which all foreigners will be able to enter Yugoslavia without entry visas in 1968.

Yugoslavia this year permitted entrance to foreign tourists without visas, marking the international tourist year. The government proposed that this practice should be extended to Nov. 1, 1968, to promote foreign tourism.
